No Compromise On Liquor Issue Declares Sheppard

PROHIBITION ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED

Author of 18th Amendment Delivers Speech Before Senators Today IS HERE TO REMAIN

Texas Solon Says No Greater Disaster Could Befall U. S. Than Repeal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(UP)—There can be no compromise on the liquor issue. Senator Morris Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, author of the eighteenth amendment, told the senate today in a speech commemorating the eleventh anniversary of national prohibition.

"The nation must be altogether dry or altogether wet," Sheppard said. "There is no possibility of compromise. The people wrote prohibition into the constitution and there it will remain forever."

In a militant denial of set charges that prohibition increased crime, brought disrespect for law, "mediated with individual rights and taught youths to drink," Sheppard waved them aside as "wringing-wet absurdities" and concluded:

"No greater disaster could befall the nation than the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

The trade in intoxicants is now under the heel of the law. Liquor can be obtained only from criminals. Reverse this situation, glory that which you now condemn, and you will let loose upon this country evils which will mean the arrest of its progress."

Sheppard said prohibition had strengthened the industrial, economic and home life of America, quoting from Thomas A. Edison and surveys of the National Educational association.

He said prohibition had resulted from revolt against increased production of alcohol in the machine age. "Machine power—the basis of modern civilization," Sheppard said. "Calls for the prohibition of liquor, the steady nerve, firm hand and unclouded brain."

"Every national election since," he added, "has returned overwhelming dry majorities to both house and senate, and the last election was no exception."

He held that any moderation of the law is impossible and unworkable and charged the wets with being hopelessly divided as to what they would propose to take the place of national prohibition."

WAVE OF INFLUENZA SWEEPING EUROPE

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(UP)—A wave of influenza swept Europe today while Britain was in the midst of the worst epidemic of gripe, influenza and colds experienced since 1927.

France, Germany, Spain and Portugal added to the discomfort of thousands. The military college at Lisbon was closed due to the illness of 270 cadets.

Report from Berlin estimated that 10,000 persons in Germany were being treated for influenza and colds. One-third of the patients were in hospitals.

GOV. ROLPH, BY FLOURISH OF HIS PEN, PROVIDES PLACES FOR 8000 UNEMPLOYED MEN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 16.—(UP)—With a flourish of his pen, Gov. James Rolph today provided jobs for more than 8000 of his fellow Californians.

The governor signed 29 bills calling for immediate expenditure of $5,000,000 upon public works as a relief measure to the present unemployment crisis.

The bill signing took place in the presence of Rolph's official family, state government and legislative leaders. Newspaper cameramen were on hand to photograph the impressive scene.

"This is the proudest moment I have had in the brief time I have been governor," Rolph said. "I hope my thousands of friends throughout California will be as happy to go to work in these jobs as I am to create them."

Immediately after the bills were signed, Colonel Garrison went into conference with contractors with a view of awarding the contracts for the proposed work in order to have it under way within 60 days.

LESS THAN $300 SUBSCRIBED TO RED CROSS RELIEF FUND FOR DROUGHT STRICKEN AREA

THE NEED OF IMMEDIATE response to the call of the American Red Cross for $4000 from the Santa Ana chapter was stressed by President T. E. Stephenson this morning in announcing that less than $300 has been subscribed to date to aid suffering in the drought stricken areas of the nation.

According to Stephenson, recent surveys of the afflicted areas show the need to be of a genuine emergency character. Every one able to give, even in small amounts, is urged to do so quickly. The Register will receive, acknowledge by publication and turn over to the Red Cross all sums sent to this paper for the purpose, or they may be sent to Harry Hanson of the First National bank or direct to Terry Stephenson at the Santa Ana post office. Checks sent to the Register should be made out to the Red Cross.

In order that persons living outside of Santa Ana, but in this Red Cross district, may contribute, the following have been designated by Stephenson as persons whom money may be sent or left:

Mrs. Lois C. Robb, Huntington Beach; First National bank, Tustin; Mrs. C. C. Violett or Miss Mabel Head, Garden Grove; Mrs. Joseph Jahraus, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Tom Murphine, San Clemente; Mrs. John Forster or Mrs. John Daneri of San Juan Capistrano.

PRIZE WINNERS ARE NAMED IN BIRD COLORING CONTEST

Gayle Williams of Fairview avenue, Costa Mesa and Alvin Fitzgerald, who lives at 1233 Highland street, were the winners in the bird coloring contest in the group of younger folk. Among the older artists Mitsura Imoto of Springfield and Dorothy Summons of Costa Mesa are the prize winners. To the first prize winners will be mailed the cash prize, and the first and second prize winners should call Mr. Larry Rundell, Santa Ana 323, or come in to see him, and make an appointment for the photograph which, if you do not want to keep it yourself, is the nicest gift you could possibly present someone you love, and here Valentine day is next month, too.

There was more interest in the sly catbird than there has been in several other birds recently.

Now for next week you can color the crow. All of you are acquainted with the crow.

There is more color contrast in the picture, for next week, though it is all in black and white and gray. But the crow is quite black and the background looks like snow which we don't see much of around here, except on the far off mountains. The crow is very interesting bird and you will read what Miss Carrie Jacobs says about the crow tomorrow.

But don't be misled because she says that "a crow looks black but when it is close its feathers show other colors, blue, green and purple. It is best to color the crow as it looks to us rather than to try to get the blends of coloring which the crow has on very close inspection."

Here is good luck to you with the crow next week.

ACUTE ALCOHOLISM BLAMED FOR DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(UP)—Charles J. Ross, 53, vice president of the R. C. A. Photophone company, died of sclerosis of the coronary arteries, with a contributing cause of acute alcoholism, a coroner's jury decided last night after hearing conflicting reports of his death.

Ross had been taken to a hospital suffering from a broken ankle, and police said their investigation showed he had been drinking with two women. An attending physician declined to sign a death certificate, although he said he believed a heart attack had caused death.

The hurricane, which started 24 hours ago, in some places today reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour.

PUBLISHERS HEAR GOVERNOR TONIGHT

STOCKTON, Cal., Jan. 16.—(UP)—Governor James Rolph Jr. will speak tonight to more than 300 delegates of the California Newspaper Publishers' association, here in annual convention today, Saturday and Sunday.

Informal receptions for a special trainload of newspaper publishers and executives arriving from Southern California will take place during the morning, the convention formally opening with a luncheon, followed by group meetings.

DAISY DE VOE TO TAKE STAND BEFORE NIGHT

The auditor spoke without hesitation of the fact that he believed 144 cancelled checks belonging to Miss Bow were missing and he further alleged that on the approximate dates the checks were drawn Miss Devoe deposited similar amounts to her own accounts.

Nathan G. Freedman, fiery young attorney for Miss Devoe, and the defendant herself, listened quietly to Armstrong's recital—a fact which partially surprised the spectators.

With Freedman listening passively and Miss Devoe scribbling in a note book, rumors spread that they were planning a coup d'état of a sensational nature to be sprung when Miss Devoe resumed the stand.

Red Bell, screen cowboy and Miss Bow's asserted "boy friend" was the only member of the Bow forces in court during Armstrong's early testimony.

Bell, occupying a seat near the front, shifted nervously for a while, then almost went to sleep.

Reporters persuaded him to step into the hall late yesterday and then asked him about the whereabouts of Miss Bow, whose absence was felt by all.

Bell explained that Miss Bow's interest in the trial had languished until Daisy was called to defend herself.

Then, Bell said, Miss Bow will be among those present.

So far Clara has been the lower in every clash of personalities with Daisy. She wept when she testified to her former friendship with Miss Devoe and told how they once were "pals."

Another time she retreated under the cold gaze of Miss Devoe's blue eyes and screamed:

"All right! Go ahead and sneer at me, Daisy!"

There was feeling in the courtroom, and Bell partially confirmed the belief, that Miss Bow was curious to see how Daisy would act when on the witness stand with everyone gazing at her.

WORKMAN TELLS OF CHANGES IN STATE CAPITOL

DES MOINES, Iowa—(INS)—C. R. Donner of San Diego, Calif., strolled into the Iowa Capitol building here, glanced around and then sauntered into an office where he again looked about and declared:

"There's something wrong here."

Naturally public officials do not like to be told there is something wrong with their offices, so Donner was asked to explain himself.

"I helped build this place 59 years ago," Donner then said. "And this north wing has been changed."

It was explained to Donner, who is 75, that a fire had damaged the north wing of the Capitol years ago and repairs had been made which slightly altered the appearance of the interior.

Donner said it was his first visit to the building since, when as a young man, he worked for five years on the edifice.

He found other parts of the building unchanged in appearance in the three score years since he was last in it.

The Californian told many instances of the construction of the Capitol. He related how nearly all the wood originally put into the building was from Iowa. Walnut, Butternut, Cherry, Oak and Cat-tail trees were used, Donner said.

"Many of the designs in the building are the same as when I worked," Donner stated.

SCARCITY OF WILD DUCKS DISCUSSED

DENVER—A scarcity of wild ducks throughout the country is becoming a matter of concern to the United States government, according to Morris Legendeire, secretary of the United States senate committee on wild life resources. Legendeire was in Denver recently on his way to the Jackson Hole country in Wyoming from Santa Fe, N.M., where he had attended the annual convention of the Western Association of Game and Fish commissioners.

The shortage, according to Legendeire, is due principally to the pollution of the soil by oil, the draining of shallow lakes for purposes of agriculture and the use of chemical solutions in the treatment of feeding grounds used by ducks.

—Buena Park

BUENA PARK, Jan. 16.—Mrs. W. E. Shaw was hostess to the Buena Park Y. W. C. A. committee at her home on West Tenth street Thursday. Arrangements were made for a special program to be held in the Buena Park Congregational church February 2, at 2:30 p.m., when the Girl Reserves will put on the work with their mothers as special guests.

Miss Edna Muntford, Northern Orange County Y. M. C. A. secretary, Mrs. Fred Bastady, Mrs. H. S. Horn, Mrs. V. T. Stephens, and Mrs. Shaw attended the meeting. Other members of the committee are Mrs. St. Clair Sherrard, Mrs. J. F. Wag, Mrs. Alma Gallagher, Mrs. J. H. Page, Mrs. Caryl B. Snyder and Mrs. R. N. Cummins.

EINSTEIN FORGETS RELATIVITY

Although he is rated the world's foremost scientist, Albert Einstein finds many moments when he likes to forget entirely about his famous theory of relativity and seek relaxation in music. In this picture, he is shown playing his violin during a quiet interval in his present visit to California.

FIGHT RESULTS IN ARREST OF ALEX RAMERIZ

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon, Alexander Rameriz, 49, Stanton Mexican, was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

He was arrested last night by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Art Bells and Deputy L. H. Nicholson, after he is asserted to have attacked Jose Armenta, 36, also of Stanton. Officers also brought Armenta to the jail, where he was booked as a material witness.

Stanton citizens called the sheriff's office and reported a "big fight" in progress. Only the two men were involved, Bells reported.

Rameriz was purported to have been armed with a cobbler's knife, which was found by officers in his home. The knife was brought in as evidence.

Time for the preliminary examination of Rameriz was set for January 22, at 9 a.m., and his bail was fixed at $5000, which he did not make.

CHARGES FILED AGAINST FIVE MEN IN COURT

Informations were filed before Judge H. G. Ames today by the office of District Attorney Sam L. Collins, charging five men with various crimes, and pleas were received by the court in two other cases when criminal calendar was called in superior court.

Dan Nogodola, charged with issuing a forged check, for $18 on January 2, will be arraigned during the afternoon session of court, the arraignment being postponed to permit a conference with his attorney who was appointed by the court.

T. J. Eason, alias E. J. Turner, was charged with making and passing fictitious checks on a specific count involving a check for $12 on January 2 which was given to G. C. Wilhoit. The time for answer was set for January 23.

Elbert Marvin, James Lively and Sam Underwood were jointly charged with robbery in an information alleging that they took $25 from Rob Cavanah on January 6, under threat of revolvers. The arraignment was set for January 18.

Please were entered by Alfred H. Prouse, charged with burglary, and Harry Fuller, who is accused of issuing a fictitious check for $10 on December 27 to Sam Hurwitz. Fuller answered guilty and pronouncement of judgment will be made on January 18. Prouse entered a plea of not guilty and will be tried on January 20.

SEBASTIAN IS TO ATTEND CONCLAVE

Sebastians Brownbill shoe store here was one of the four Brownbill shoe stores of California to be selected to send delegates to the national convention to be held at St. Louis, Mo., on Jan. 19, 20 and 21.

Wm. J. Sebastian, manager of the store here, left today to represent this firm at the convention and while there he will spend time at the factories in interest of the local store.

This year in combatting the general conditions, the company is co-operating with Brownbill Shoe stores everywhere and many thousand other retailers by making possible downward adjustments in prices.

On his return trip Sebastian will visit relatives in Tennessee and Arkansas, arriving home February 6.

To reduce the fire hazard the Turkish government has forbidden construction of wooden houses in the congested sections of Istanbul.

SEEK INSURANCE FRAUD QUARTET

The district attorney's office today started a search for four men who are alleged to be defrauding farmers in the northern end of the county through the sale of automobile insurance.

According to reports, four men are selling farmers complete coverage insurance policies for $25, taking undated checks and at the time stating that the checks will not be cashed until the policies are delivered. They are representing themselves as agents for the National Automobile club, and the National Automobile club does not sell insurance at all, the district attorney said.

More than eight or 10 ranchers have been duped in this manner.

Fullerton Man Is Reported Missing

Santa Ana police today started a search for C. E. Huddleston, of 130 West Malvern street, Fullerton, who has been missing from home since last Tuesday.

Mrs. Huddleston reported to officers today that her husband left their home last Tuesday in a truck owned by the Shaffer Tool company, of Brea, to go to Huntington Beach. He has not been heard of since that time, she reported.

The truck bore the name of the tool company, printed on one side, she reported.

Sutherland Will Start for Prison

Albert Sutherland, slayer of Bert Meeks, will leave Orange county this afternoon for San Quentin Prison to begin serving a manslaughter sentence. He was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury here several days ago.

He is the first prisoner to be taken north by the new sheriff's office. Sutherland will be taken to prison by Special Deputy Sheriff John Ryan, Sheriff Logan Jackson reported.

IT'S QUITE A BIT

WASHINGTON—Airplane consumption of gasoline and oil in the United States during the first six months of 1930 added quite a bit to the coffers of oil companies, the Aeronautical Branch of the U. S. Department reveals. The consumption for that period was 12,887,532 gallons of gasoline and 537,212 gallons of oil.

Reed said Armour & Company was in splendid financial condition, that White had enjoyed one of his most successful years as president despite the general business depression, and that there was no reason whatever why he should take his own life.

The body was found almost against the side of the building, indicating White had fallen straight down the wall rather than jumping from the window.

JUDGE IMPOSES JAIL TERM ON WOMAN DRIVER

Calvin Coolidge Says:

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 16.—The contemplated cost for naval expansion under the first year program for our fleet up to the London limitation treaty standard exceeds one hundred and twenty-six million dollars. This is only a small beginning but there does not seem to be any escape from paying it.

A "dead" man in the street, robbery, shots fired, and a wild chase and capture were some of the features of a story that "broke" last night in police circles, but which was more or less squashed today when three men, who figured in the activity, appeared in police court charged with liquor offenses, including the "dead" man.

Police were called to First and Ross streets at 8:30 o'clock last night, when it was reported a man was being dragged down the street by two other men. Officers Perry and Wolford answered the call and found a man, later identified as Frank H. McMahon, 25, lying face down in the street, supposedly dead.

Two other men were standing over the "body." These were James Gordon, 26, and John Armstrong, 22.

When Gordon and Armstrong saw the arrival of the police, they started to run. Gordon got only a few feet when he was grabbed by Officer Perry, but Armstrong, younger and faster, got away. Officer Wolford gave chase and shot four times in the air. The pistol shots only made Armstrong run faster and he was not captured until he ran up an alley between Walnut and Ross streets.

Officer Wolford gave chase and shot four times in the air. The pistol shots only made Armstrong run faster and he was not captured until he ran up an alley between Walnut and Ross streets.

The plaintiff is Mrs. Minnie Stinchfield who charges negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendants, J. W. DeWitt, et al, in a crash which occurred at the intersection of First and Bristol streets, when Mrs. Stinchfield was a passenger in a car operated by Roy E. Davis. Her injuries include a fractured vertebra, according to the complaint, and she alleges she will be forced to remain in a hospital for at least six months.

CRACK-UP CLUB

PALATINE, Ill.—The local gild-

pilots who have at some time dur-

cracked up some vital part of their aircraft.

The robbery charge was not carried out in police court today, however. When Armstrong appeared in court he was charged merely with being drunk. He was sent to jail for 15 days by Judge J. F. Talbot, who gave him an alternative of paying a $30 fine. The same sentence was meted out to McMahon, days on the possession of liquor charge.

'DEAD' MAN IS MERELY DRUNK, REPORT SHOWS

A plea of guilty to a charge of owning and operating a still, which was entered today before Judge James L. Allen by J. O'Connor, resulted in a stiff fine and a sentence to the state prison.

The judgment of the court requires that the defendant pay a fine of $1000 and spend one year in the state prison. A stay of execution was granted for a period of 10 days.

The action was handled in court by District Attorney Sam L. Collins. O'Connor, it is reported, was arrested about three weeks ago in a raid near Buena Park. According to his attorney the prisoner was merely an operator of the still, working for other persons at a wage of $40 weekly.

The sentence is one of the stiffest imposed by the court on this charge in some time.

ASKS $25,000 FOR AUTO INJURIES

Injuries received in an automobile accident in Santa Ana on December 29, 1930, are the basis of a damage action for $25,000 which was filed in superior court today.

The plaintiff is Mrs. Minnie Stinchfield who charges negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendants, J. W. DeWitt, et al, in a crash which occurred at the intersection of First and Bristol streets, when Mrs. Stinchfield was a passenger in a car operated by Roy E. Davis. RETURN FAIR MERGER PLAN TO COMMITTEE

Directors of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, meeting yesterday noon at the Anaheim Elks club, voiced interest in the proposed merger of the Anaheim Valencia Orange show and Orange county fair. The group heard a report of the committee meeting held in Santa Ana on Wednesday at which the matter was discussed by representatives of both shows, and voted to refer the report back to the committee representing the Valencia Orange show, asking full details as to the financial status of both organizations. The motion was made by Leonard Evans and was seconded by Fred Robbins.

A resolution adopted by the committee on Wednesday was read by George Reid, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, who also read minutes of the meeting, kept by George Kellogg.

At yesterday's board session, President Lotus H. Loudon explained that it was brought out at the meeting in Santa Ana that the Orange county fair is now definitely a thing of the past and is only working to liquidate its indebtedness; and that any consolidation would be between the California Valencia Orange show and the thirty-second agricultural district of the state. Loudon stated that in all probability the name of the new event would be the California Valencia Orange Show and Agricultural Exposition. The minutes of Wednesday's meeting showed that H. E. W. Barnes, of Anaheim, presented a concise idea of the political and financial set-up of the California Valencia Orange show, telling of its assets and liabilities, while Kellogg explained in similar detail the position of the county fair.

A motion was passed to the effect that any new organization formed by the consolidation of the two boards should pledge itself to repay all of the indebtedness of both organizations from any surplus that may be accumulated.

A final motion provided that each board of directors be presented on the new board by four members; that they appoint four additional members who are on neither board; and further that all members of both boards be retained as an advisory board," was passed unanimously.

The subject of location was also taken up at the Santa Ana meeting the minutes showed, but the group felt it advisable to postpone final consideration to this line.

EXPERTS STUDY CONDITIONS ON LONELY ISLAND

CHICAGO — One of the world's most isolated cultures is found among a people who have no conception of a Supreme Being, no idea of a life after death, and who govern themselves by nothing more stringent than a code of ethics based upon public opinion as it is manifest among themselves.

These people are natives of the Nicobar Islands, a group of small islands in the Bay of Bengal and the Andaman Islands. A small but interesting ethnological collection representing them is on exhibition in the department of anthropology at Field Museum of Natural History.

Anthropologists are interested by the fact that although the Nicobar Islands are only 80 miles from the Andaman Islands where the natives are negroid, the Nicobars have none of the Andaman characteristics. Instead of being small, black-skinned, kinky-haired and living on a low scale, the bulk of the Nicobar population are brown, lank-haired, of fair stature, and semi-civilized. They live in good houses, cultivate food plants and possess domesticated animals.

Field Museum curators point to their circular communal houses as a primitive form of socialism.

They have few weapons and are not war-like.

Although they have no conception of a Supreme Being they have a strong fear of evil spirits which are regarded in part as being ghosts of the wicked. These they believe may be appeased by offerings and kept away by exorcisms.

The Nicobars have no regular places of worship, but they have priest-doctors supposed to have power to communicate with the spirits and by ceremonials prevent them from doing evils.

Marriage among the Nicobars is apt to be of rather transitory nature and most adults make numerous alliances.

One of the world's first automobiles, a German car built in 1888 by Karl Benz, has been obtained by Henry Ford for his museum.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERA RAMSEY

The writer behind the book is always of some degree of interest to us. Some authors are interesting only because of their writings. Others infuse their personalities into their works to such an extent that we become curious about their own lives. In "H. G. Wells" by Geoffrey West, we have the biography of a man who is more interesting than any of his books.

Here at last is the truth about one of the most famous authors in the world. You will like H. G. Wells even more than your old friends, Mr. Polly, Kipps and Ann Veronica. His life story is even more adventurous than "Tony Bungay" or "The New Machiavelli" and his mind is more stimulating than "William Clissold."

The original purpose of this book was critical, but because of this man's dominant personality, it has become mainly biographical. As we read, our interest in the man grows and grows. His life has been extraordinarily eventful in its own way. As so little is known of it in detail, Geoffrey West wants to tell as fully as possible the story of the origin, growth and manifestation in every sphere of the activity which is H. G. Wells. Here will be found Wells the Man, Wells the Artist, and Wells the Thinker.

H. G. Wells has given much assistance to the author in compiling this book. He has given him free access to all the necessary information, written or verbal. Many unpublished letters have been quoted and also the recollections of old friends and colleagues. Perhaps it is because of this that we feel the intimacy of this portrayal. The personality of this man which we feel so vividly behind his writings is at last brought to us in a well rounded and complete manner.

Perhaps there is no other way in which to draw so near to the civilization of a people as through their mythology. Through stories that once were sacred and still have a deep human significance, we have a glimpse into the souls of different racial groups. Padraig Colum has collected tales from different civilizations in "Orpheus: Myths of the World."

This is primarily a story book. It might be described as a treasure house of stories. These are taken from many civilizations: Egyptian, Babylonian, Persian, Greek, Latin, Celtic, Scandinavian, East Indian, Chinese, Japanese, Polynesian, Peruvian, Central American and Mexican and Zuni. We understand each of these better when it is related to a similar story in another mythology. The story of Demeter, for instance, becomes clearer to us when we read it after the story of the Egyptian Isis.

Mr. Colum has re-told the stories that have made the deepest impression on the mind of humanity. In telling these stories, he has striven to attain a method that recalls the spirit of the civilization out of which they have come. An introduction discusses the characteristics of each mythology and what its development has been. The illustrations in the book add to this spirit because Mr. Arzyshefski uses designs associated with the different civilizations.

The excellent manner in which these stories are told adds to their beauty. We feel that we are in the presence of the soul of these peoples. Many of our own emotions and secret thoughts find a kindred spirit in these old stories which have constructed at different periods to explain the world and its mysteries.

Present day America is a land of almost universal education. The chief aim of about two-thirds of Americans parents is to send their sons and daughters through college, cost what it may, and fare as it may. Because of this there cannot be too much done in the way of education, not of the children, but of their parents. Rita S. Halle attacks this problem in "Which College?"

Many people have already been reading Rita Halle's articles in magazines. Many of them are utilized here, but a great part of the work is new. There are four general chapters, which are "Which College?", "How to Get There?", "The Junior College?", and "After College, What?" These are all problems that have to be met by those who are seeking higher education and by those parents and guardians who send someone where most good can be accomplished.

In addition to this general material, the author has given us a tabulated list of various colleges and universities with their outstanding characteristics. This will be of great value to anyone who is looking for the best school in a particular field. Her information about these institutions has been carefully and accurately gathered and beyond that checked by several other educators.

As a general handbook in this field, this book is a remarkable work. Almost without qualification one may recommend it to anyone confronted with the problem with which it deals. The carefully checked information which is presented here in so usable a form is sure to meet a much felt need—that of choosing wisely the college or university to prepare us for our future activities.

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 16.—An announcement was made at the meeting of the city council here last night of a luncheon at the Pacific Coast Club in Long Beach for members of the Orange county board of supervisors, the supervisors of Los Angeles county, councilmen of Seal Beach, the city attorney and engineer, for consideration of the purchase of the Alamitos peninsula tip Los Angeles county. The parcel of land is being sought for recreational purposes, and for use in carrying out the flood control system. The combined approval of Orange county and Seal Beach officials will be necessary in order to complete the transaction.

Two names were presented to the council by Councilman Wheat as prospective city appraisers, but as board members were unable to reach final decision it was decided to call a special meeting to make the selection. In the meantime councilmen will interview the candidates and make individual decisions.

Mrs. Jessie Reed, president of the Woman's club, addressed members of the board, presenting plans for distributing the relief fund, which has been created by members of the police department, water department, city council and elementary school faculty.

Mrs. Reed suggested that a committee be formed which would include representatives from all the organizations in the community, in order that the distribution might reach everyone in need and that duplication be avoided. Until such a committee can be formed, however, the Woman's club committee will handle the work. The members plan to distribute clothing to needy families and will establish headquarters for this part of the relief work as soon as possible.

A communication from the Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation was read at the meeting, concerning the purchase of a franchise in Orange county and in Seal Beach where its plant is located. City councilmen voted their approval of such a plan.

In a letter from Robert S. Odell, president of Pacific States Savings, Customer-owners of Pacific States Savings and Loan company yesterday benefitted through that institution's record earnings for 1930 through payment of the regular dividend of 3½ cents plus an extra dividend of 12 cents to the 7000 shareholders of State Guaranty corporation, in which rests the sole stock ownership of Pacific States Savings.

In a letter from Robert S. Odell, president of Pacific States Savings, shareholders were advised that earnings of the institution during

1930 were $869,934 after allowance for federal income tax and deduction of a Christmas bonus of $17,476 to employees.

These are the highest yearly earnings in the history of the institution.

"Of especial significance," said

Odell, "is the fact that Pacific States Savings transferred to earnings during 1930 only $365,454 from its loan underwriting fees, while there remained at the end of the year a balance for future distribution of $1,337,286 in unallocated underwriting fees."

"As of December 31 resources of Pacific States Savings were $72,444,380, representing a gain for the year of $1,405,752. Only approximately one million dollars of this growth was due to acquisition by purchase.

During the 10-day January reinvestment period, just closed, the institution gained $383 new savers with savings amounting to $2,397,609, the letter states.

During the luncheon a beautiful birthday cake was cut and served.

Besides the honoree others present were Mrs. J. Puritman, Mrs. R. Sutherland, Mrs. R. Simpson, and Mrs. E. Clark, all daughters of Mrs. Lowry, and Mrs. H. Sutter and Miss E. Lundeen, granddaughters of the honoree.

Musicians Only Human After All

The great Paderewski . . . has a passion for making small bets . . . At Monte Carlo he once won 34 times in succession.

THIER audiences see them only in the light of the dignity and glamour that surrounds them on the concert stage. Little is generally known of the Paderewski who has a passion for lemon ices and rewards himself with one after every public recital; the Schumann-Heink who reads herself to sleep with the latest detective story; the Damrosch who spends hours making a Punch and Judy show for his grandchildren; the Werrenrath who, as regularly as the tide, goes to a Chinese restaurant once a week for chicken chow mein.

The greater the musician the more human he seems to be, and the more all-round his interests. It was Mischa Levitski, who when a concert admirer expressed surprise at seeing him rooting vociferously at a baseball game, announced with pride:

"I can tell you who has won the championship for the past 10 years—what's more, I can tell you the name of every player on this field"—and then he continued more seriously:

"Art should never completely absorb an artist. If he is a great artist, he must have many interests—make all sorts of contacts. His art will be all the finer for what it absorbs from other arts and interests."

To return to Paderewski, one of his weaknesses is making small bets. He invariably wagers two or three dollars with a member of his entourage on the number of people who will attend each recital. When he guesses wrong, he cheerfully pays up, and when he is right, he is fully as cheerful about collecting. He bets on many other things, but never for high stakes.

Once at Monte Carlo, he had an irresistible impulse to play, being sure that he would win. He did win—34 times in succession, but at no time would he gamble more than a dollar, despite the pleadings of other Casino guests, who implored him to take advantage of his luck and place higher bets.

They tried to place their money on his numbers, but having a hunch he should play a lone hand, he was careful to wait until the very last moment, and then left his money lie where it dropped. His run of luck was said by Casino officials to be almost without precedent.

HE has the Pole's inherent love of land, and is strongly attached to his American ranch at Paso Robles, California, spending three or four weeks there each year that he visits this country. The ranch is about 2600 acres in size and is under cultivation mainly to almonds, prunes, grapes and walnuts.

Paderewski is extremely superstitious and refuses to shake hands or talk with anyone over a threshold, believing it will bring bad luck. He also shudders at the thought of lighting three cigarettes from a single match. He used to feed tramps whenever they came around his private Pullman car, but the Knights of the Road passed the word around so generally and came in such hordes that the harassed chef finally took matters into his own hands and took to chasing them off with a kitchen knife.

Movies, cooking her own noodle soup and reading every mystery yarn she can lay her hands on form the chief recreations of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink.

She admits she likes her own cooking better than anyone's else. When recently she came to New York to spend two or three months, the first thing that concerned her was fitting out her hotel apartment with pots and pans, dishes and an electric stove, so that she might get her own meals whenever she felt like it.

She loves corned beef and cabbage. She takes a delight in finding out a person's favorite dish, then inviting him to dinner and serving that dish.

An early riser (she usually is up at six o'clock), she casts a scornful eye at the sluggards who, when visiting her, do not get out of bed at that hour. She has a horror of being late, though she has never yet been late for anything in her life. When she is on tour, she always insists on being at the railroad station half an hour before the train is due.

Shakespeare is the only "highbrow" author she likes. She is a connoisseur of great sculpture, and once wistfully remarked:

"If I had my life to live over again, I think I should like to be Rodin."

PROBABLY the artist with the greatest talent outside of his own profession is Walter Damrosch. Had he not been a musician, he probably would have achieved almost as great distinction as an architect, a landscape gardener, a painter or a writer.

Not long ago he picked up some beautiful old hand-painted Chinese panels. When he came to paneling the foyer of his home with them, he discovered there was one

Not wrapped in cotton wool . . . Paul Kochanski, Polish violinist, once tried bull fighting, and came off second best. . . . He is an all-round sportsman.

too few for the space. He painted another himself, painstakingly copying all the lotuses, leaves and elaborate background design—and did it so skillfully that the eye of the layman could not detect the straying.

He loves to go to auction sales and enjoys bidding. His home is full of lovely things he has secured in this way.

He himself laid out the grounds and gardens at his Bar Harbor summer home, designing and actually building with the aid of his gardener, a beautiful fountain.

Once Damrosch brought down the house at the August Century Club by dressing up as a girl and singing "Alice Ben Bolt." He is famous for his hospitality and it is rarely that the Damrosches sit down alone to dinner. His home is always filled with people, not only musicians, but also writers, engineers, painters, and people of every other profession and business.

DAMROSCH parties are famous. Musicians schedule tours so as to be in New York for his New Year's party. At that time each year there assembles an enormous gathering of orchestra players, theatrical people, music critics and all the world's famous artists who are within traveling distance of New York at the time. And the host is always the liveliest of the amazingly lively party.

He likes to wear bright colored shirts—with a particular leaning toward sapphire blue.

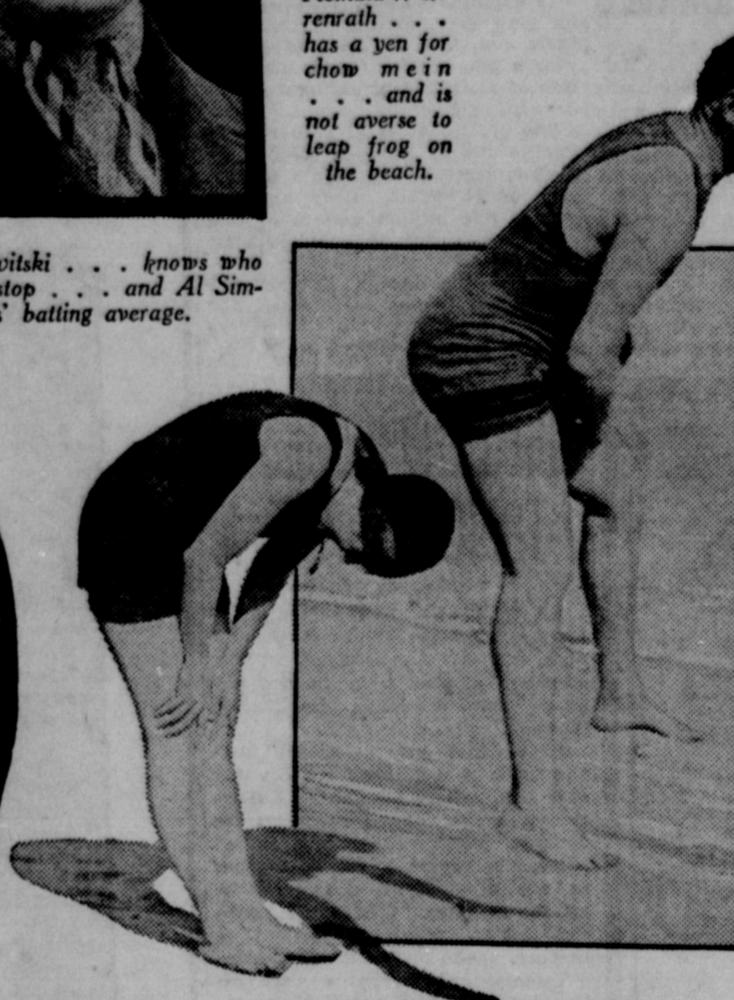

He loves France and the French and dashes off to Paris at every possible opportunity.

It affords Damrosch vast amusement that people who have never seen him recognize him on the street, in elevators, in restaurants, by his voice. They have heard it so many times in the radio concerts he broadcasts each week from the studios of the National Broadcasting Company.

Reinold Werrenrath . . . has a yen for chow mein . . . and is not averse to leap frog on the beach.

Mischa Levitski . . . knows who plays shortstop . . . and Al Simmons' batting average.

The beloved Walter Damrosch . . . tries a radio program on his grandson, Blaine Littell. . . . Damrosch could be architect, painter, writer, gardener.

Dusolina Giannini . . . goes for perfume, dogs, and Russian literature. . . . She now speaks five languages, and is adding Russian.

tors, in restaurants, by his voice. They have heard it so many times in the radio concerts he broadcasts each week from the studios of the National Broadcasting Company.

Not long ago in a little restaurant in Vermont Mr. and Mrs. Damrosch were absorbed in ordering a meal. At a table nearby sat two rather elderly ladies whispering eagerly to each other and casting furtive glances at the Damrosches. Finally one of them could control her curiosity no longer and approached the other table.

"Aren't you Mr. Damrosch?" she asked.

He admitted he was. She turned triumphantly to her companion and announced, "There, didn't I tell you so?" and feeling an explanation was necessary, she said to Mr. Damrosch: "I knew you when I heard you order those lamb chops. I recognized your voice."

On a par with Damrosch as a host, delightful entertainer and brilliant conversationalist is his close friend, Paul Kochanski, Polish violinist. He is a most versatile fellow, and a perfect host. The advice once given by one famous artist to another has become almost a byword among musical people:

"If you are suffering from ennui at any time, go to Paul Kochanski's."

Drop in at his New York apartment any afternoon or evening when he is not on tour and you will find a gathering that resembles a musical Who's Who, with Zimbalist playing chopsticks on the piano, Spalding and Horowitz trying their hand at playing each other's instruments, and such personalities as Cortot, Iturbi, Heifetz, and Glazounoff drifting about.

Kochanski's face bears a mark of his virile and adventurous spirit. Offsetting his esthetic features is a scar which he looks upon as a great trophy. It is a lifelong reminder of the occasion, some 10 years ago, when he audaciously stepped into the bull ring in Seville and for three thrilling minutes experienced what it feels like to be a Spanish matador. The bull would seem to have had the better of it.

There are parts of Europe where Kochanski is as well known as a tennis player as he is as a violinist. He once won the tennis finals at Ostende. He hunts in Scotland. He skis in Switzerland, taking hair-raising chances on the most difficult slopes. In fact, many of the things he does as a natural part of his existence bring cold chills to those who think a great artist owes it to the world to keep himself wrapped in wool.

There is John Charles Thomas, famous American baritone, who is so addicted to golf that he often comes to operatic rehearsals clad in plus fours, with his clubs slung over his shoulder.

As for that brilliant Italian-American soprano, Dusolina Giannini, perfume, dogs and Russian literature are her chief weaknesses. The greatest admirers of her vocal capabilities is her Pekingese dog, who listens rapturously while she practices an aria, but refuses to let anyone else sing in the home of his mistress. Giannini is a great linguist and can speak French, Italian, German, Spanish and English with equal facility. She is now engrossed in studying Russian, so that she can read in the original the literary masterpieces of the Russian authors whom she admires so intensely.

There is Mischa Levitski, one of the hardest and most conscientious workers among the musical artists, who guiltily slips away from practicing to take in a prize fight, and whose one regret when his tour season opens is that he is prevented from attending the major league baseball games.

He loves to dance, swim and play tennis. He plays jazz almost as well as he does the classics. Once he was at a hotel in a small town, where his name meant nothing to the population. A bevy of girls accosted him as he was coming through the lobby. Someone had told them a pianist was staying there, and to them a pianist meant only one thing. They asked if he would play for a dance they were giving that evening. The musician they had intended to have had been suddenly taken ill.

CHUCKLING gleefully over this request, Levitski agreed. He was even more gleeful later when a young couple dancing by threw out the remark: "Gosh! You're good! You play for a real jazz band somewhere, don't you?"

There is Rudolf Ganz, who is as devoted to dancing as Levitski. He loves playing practical jokes and has been known to write vitriolic anonymous letters to the newspapers, criticizing the way he himself conducted an orchestral work or played a piano composition.

Pass any of the off-stage personalities of the greater artists in review and there will be seen an amazingly human assembly, with all the weaknesses, foibles and enthusiasms of less fortunately endowed mortals.

Many an artist comes off the concert stage at the end of a performance in a state of complete exhaustion. Then, instead of the rest and privacy that he craves at the moment, he must go to the greenroom and greet as cordially as possible the hordes of people who make a practice of shaking hands with the performer, asking him for his autograph, trying to get him to play at this and that charity.

Is it any wonder that Paderewski likes to slip into a darkened movie house, where no one can see or recognize him, and where he can enjoy a hearty laugh over a comic picture like any ordinary human being?

CIGARET POISONS CITED IN ADDRESS

YORBA LINDA. Jan. 16.—Paul Walton, of Los Angeles, son of James A. Walton of the Anti-Cigaret League, spoke on "Narcotics" at the regular monthly meeting of the Placentia W. C. T. U. held at the home of Mrs. C. H. Seaman in Yorba Linda Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen known poisons contained in cigarettes were enumerated by the speaker which enter the blood of the smoker, and he stated that 60 percent of the children of excessive smokers do not live beyond the age of five years.

Mrs. Guy L. Kay presided and Mrs. E. H. Brunemeyer led in devotions. Mrs. Kay and the secretary, Mrs. Schade, thanked the members for the pins presented them at Christmas.

Miss Ada Sturdevant announced a meeting to be held at Orange at the church on Chapman and Grand avenues on January 16 in celebration of the 11th anniversary of prohibition.

Mrs. Seamans gave a short musical program, featuring several of her own compositions, and later served tea, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Hargrave, Miss Effie Murray and the two Japanese boys who are living at the Seamans home and studying in the Yorba Linda school.

Although a group of women vary quite a lot in their individual height, there is said to be a surprising uniformity in the distance between their elbows and the ground.

ALLSTATE has consistently sold about a fourth below any other tire of comparable quality—now it sells even lower. The new reductions average 11%—some sizes are reduced 19%. And you save even more than that when you buy a pair. Raw rubber and cotton have come down. And new economies in manufacturing and distributing have been effected as a result of the fact that one out of every ten tires sold for replacement in 1930 was an ALLSTATE. So Sears passed those savings along to motorists by making the ALLSTATE a better tire than ever—and offering it for less than ever.

TROJAN, CARD QUINTETS PLAY 2-GAME SERIES

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 16.—Still smarting from defeats handed them by California and U. C. L. A., respectively, last weekend, basketball teams of Southern California and Stanford will meet in a two game series here tonight and Saturday.

The Trojans, conference champions last year, found "Nibs" Price's Golden Bears a little too tough and bowed, 24-22, in a torrid game. The Indians drew a tough assignment in the veteran Bruin quintet and were beaten twice, 32-23 and 28-26. As a result, Bruins and Bears are riding on top of the heap in the Southern division of the Pacific Coast conference and the Trojans and Indians are bringing up the rear.

A double victory for Stanford or Southern California this week will return either to the ranks of the contenders, depending, of course on what happens when California and U. C. L. A. collide. Fans are inclined to consider the Trojans-Indian series a toss-up with whatever edge exists going to the southernners.

Coach John Bunn ran into a peculiar situation when his Cardinals were beaten twice by U. C. L. A. In each of the two encounters, the redskins were unable to find the hoop for a single point in the initial ten minutes of play. In the first contest, the Bruins ran up 16 and in the second, 10, during this period.

After spotting their rivals to 16 and 10 point leads, the Stanford basket-kickers swung into action and outscored them for the remaining 30 minutes—23 to 16 Friday night and 26 to 18 Saturday night.

Bunn is at a loss to explain why the Cardinal defense went to pieces so completely in the first 10 minutes and then functioned so beautifully in the last 30. The Stanford coach was also far from satisfied with his team's offense and is spending practically all of his time this week, working on passing and shooting.

CLASS B, C HOOP STANDING SHOWN

Santa Ana is at the top of one and at the bottom of the other standings in the Coast Preparatory League's Class B and Class C basketball races. The Saint "Cees" beat Woodrow Wilson last week but the "Bees" lost to the Bruins. The statistics:

CAT MAKES TRIP

MANCHESTER, Ia., Jan. 16.

F. G. Gosling, a high school basketball referee, packed his bag recently and hurried to Buck Creek, Ia., to officiate at a game. Four hours later, when he opened his grip to change clothes, out jumped his cat, Knute Rockne, winning the Erskine Award for the champion football team, was given another automobile the other day. What does Rockne do with his old automobiles?

Our Notre Dame correspondent tells us that Rockne is a demon at riding the clutch. He uses up a car in no time at all, leaping into the machine to dash around the campus with all the vim and vigor of the Ben Hur gaging in overweight ponies!

BAER IS HEAVY FAVORITE OVER HEENEY IN N. Y.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Tonight in the ring at Madison Square Garden, Max Baer, young and promising California heavyweight who aspires to become "another Dempsey," will be shovved in there against an old and fading veteran by the name of Tom Heeney, the crushed "hard rock from down under." In what is billed as a 16-round bout it should be a "soft touch" for handsome Max.

If Baer doesn't whip good old honest Tom it will just be too bad for Max. Nearly everybody has been kicking Tom around since he was given an artistic lacing by Gene Tunney in Tunney's last fight—the night of July 26, 1928, in New York. And if Max cannot "take" this ring-beaten old timer tonight his prestige will drop and the critics are certain to say the cocky Californian isn't the man he thinks he is.

Betting was 2 to 1 today, however, that Baer will win. The wise guys along Broadway figure this spot tonight was picked for Max who needs to be "brought along" and built up. The consensus was, after Max dropped a close decision to Ernie Schaaf a few weeks ago in his first Broadway appearance, that he was "a year away." Max made a great show tonight against the experienced Schaaf although it wasn't good enough to win.

The gamblers along theistic rialto cannot see how Max—a courageous chap with a real punch—can miss against Heeney even though the young Californian is woefully green on defense. They simply believe old Tom hasn't enough left to beat this good-looking, black-haired youth who revels in a good, old-fashioned pier.

Heeney has been somewhat of a "dud" since Tunney cut him to ribbons in their fight which the referee was forced to stop in the eleventh round after Tom had taken a terrific shellacking. Up to that night, the sturdy New Zealander was a steel-ribbed, iron-chinned battler, as rugged a man as they came. Tunney, whom they said was no puncher, certainly left his mark on Heeney.

Since the night of the Tunney-Heeney bout a year and one half has elapsed and Heeney has made nine stars. He was stopped twice by Victorio Campolo and "Tuffy" Griffiths; he lost decisions to Jimmy Maloney, whom he had previously beaten, and to Otto von Porat, Emmett Roos and Frank Cawley; he won from Elzear Rioux on a foul, and outpointed George Panka and George Hoffman. Not so good for old Tom before he met Tunney, boxed draws with Jack Sharkey and Paolini, outpointed Jack Delaney and knocked out Maloney in one round.

The weather again was warm and bright with the gallery numbering around 500.

Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadows, N. Y., who won first prize of $10,000 last year, shot a 38, giving him a 45 hole total of 185.

CREW IN TRAINING

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Varsity crew training at Syracuse university is now under way. Coach Jim Ten Eyck, who thinks little of rowing 20 miles daily despite his 34 on the first nine the opening day was the only other score that low thus far in the tournament.

The weather again was warm and bright with the gallery numbering around 500.

Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadows, N. Y., who won first prize of $10,000 last year, shot a 38, giving him a 45 hole total of 185.

ROCKNE SPEAKS UP

The other day Bob Edgren, veteran boxing writer and cartoonist who recently was appointed to the California Boxing Commission, denied permission to Tommy Freeman, the new welterweight champion, to engage in an over-weight affair. It was Edgren's view that Young Corbett III had won similar contests from Young Jack Thompson and Jackie Fields while these two gents were holders of the title, and that they should be recognized as outstanding challengers.

If you remember, Tommy got the title on a most questionable decision over Young Jack Thompson. Probably Tommy deserves the championship, since Fate stepped in and robbed him of it a couple of times when it seemed that he had it won fairly. But we do not care to see Freeman or anybody else as champion, excepting the likes of Rockne.

ROCKNE'S AUTOMOBILES

Knute Rockne, winning the Erskine Award for the champion football team, was given another automobile the other day. What does Rockne do with his old automobiles?

Our Notre Dame correspondent tells us that Rockne is a demon at riding the clutch. He uses up a car in no time at all, leaping into the machine to dash around the campus with all the vim and vigor of the Ben Hur gaging in overweight ponies!

Dempsey Mùm On Sharkey Verbal Battle

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Jack Dempsey, in town today to referee the Max Baer-Tom Heeney bout at the Garden tonight, had nothing new to say today about a $100,000 Boston bid for a Dempsey-Sharkey battle.

The Arena A. C., which made the offer, would stage the bout at a hub ball park next summer. Sharkey has agreed to terms for the meeting it was reported.

It is possible that Dempsey will have to pass judgment on a boxer sponsored by Jack Buckley, manager of Sharkey. Eddie Mack, promoter, has asked Dempsey to referee the Ernie Schaaf-Dick Daniels bout January 26. Schaaf is owned by Buckley and Sharkey.

SMITH, GOLDEN SHARE LEAD IN CALIENTE GOLF

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 16.—Horton Smith, Cragston, N. Y., professional, tied John Golden-Noron, Conn., for the lead at the end of nine holes today with a 45-hole total of 181 in the $25,000 Agua Caliente Open tournament.

Golden, who led the field at the end of the second round yesterday with a 143 had a 28 going out today and lost four strokes to Smith, who shot an inspired 34, under par. Smith was tied with four others for fifth place, each with a 147, when he started his third round this morning.

Darnley Contract Valid

The commission investigated the situation, learned from its secretary that a syndicate, represented by Darnley, owned the original contract on Macias. This document, filed at Sacramento, was declared valid. All other contracts were ordered illegal, and Macias was written down as a "Darnley fighter" and ordered to follow that manager's instructions.

At present Macias is on the shelf with a broken arm and it is doubtful whether he will be able to start again inside of four months. He suffered the injury just before a scheduled bout with Tony Portillo at the Olympic which was to have been the forerunner to a shot with Paulie Walker. Macias reinjured the arm in training a week ago.

Among other announcements of the new commission were the following:

No Boxing "Czar"

1. There will be no chief inspector, or so-called "czar." Each district will function under its own chief inspector, as in the past.

2. All clubs will be held accountable for the presence of suspended managers, boxers or handlers who appear at their shows.

They must refuse to permit the suspended ones to enter, or face disqualification by the commission.

3. There will be no "non-decision" bouts, even over the 12-round route, although the state law provides for them, and no champion can box in this state without defending his title if he is meeting a man in his class.

4. No boxer will be permitted to turn any part of his ring earnings over to a manager under suspension.

Rematch Foul Fighters

If a bout ends by a foul, the two participants must meet again the next week at the same club as an added attraction, and they

COMMISSION DECIDES FUSS OVER FIGHTER

The state of California recognizes only one manager of Jesus ("Wild Man") Macias and he is Billy Darnley of Santa Ana, the man who has on file in Sacramento a contract with the Los Alamitos Mexican welterweight.

Such is the sum and substance of a decision handed down today by the new California boxing commissioners—Robert Edgren, Dr. Harry Martin and the Rev. Leslie Schaefer—before whom Darnley's attorneys appeared yesterday.

An expected struggle for Macias' services did not materialize when Roger L. Shipley, wealthy Santa Ana sportsman who recently announced he had obtained the fighter's contract and hereafter would handle his affairs, did not put in an appearance before the commission.

Darnley Contract Valid

The commission investigated the situation, learned from its secretary that a syndicate, represented by Darnley, owned the original contract on Macias. This document, filed at Sacramento, was declared valid. All other contracts were ordered illegal, and Macias was written down as a "Darnley fighter" and ordered to follow that manager's instructions.

At present Macias is on the shelf with a broken arm and it is doubtful whether he will be able to start again inside of four months. He suffered the injury just before a scheduled bout with Tony Portillo at the Olympic which was to have been the forerunner to a shot with Paulie Walker. Macias reinjured the arm in training a week ago.

Among other announcements of the new commission were the following:

No Boxing "Czar"

1. There will be no chief inspector, or so-called "czar." Each district will function under its own chief inspector, as in the past.

2. All clubs will be held accountable for the presence of suspended managers, boxers or handlers who appear at their shows.

They must refuse to permit the suspended ones to enter, or face disqualification by the commission.

3. There will be no "non-decision" bouts, even over the 12-round route, although the state law provides for them, and no champion can box in this state without defending his title if he is meeting a man in his class.

4. No boxer will be permitted to turn any part of his ring earnings over to a manager under suspension.

Rematch Foul Fighters

If a bout ends by a foul, the two participants must meet again the next week at the same club as an added attraction, and they

What the voracious Venetian needs more than anything else is dynamite in his mitts. Against Godfrey, he proved that he could "take it," but inflicted little punishment on the Negro. He might have put his ducky opponent away if the brawl had gone the limit, but big George decided he had done enough work for one evening and took the subway route.

The arrival of Carnera and Paulino Uzcudun in this city within a few days of each other has revived the controversy over their 10-round mixup in Barcelona last year.

Carnera Explains

One judge voted for Paulino but the other arbiter and the referee awarded the verdict to the Italian. Paulina said here that Primo just pushed him around without inflicting any damage. "Primo beef" goes the Basque one better by advancing two alibis. For one thing, he says he hurt his right hand in the second round and had to rely on his left for the remainder of the bout. Secondly, he declares there was not a pair of gloves in all Spain big enough to fit him, forcing him to hit with open gloves. The great big man from the south of Italy will have to reduce considerably in the next six weeks. At present he weighs 270 pounds.

WOODEN RAILROADS

PORLTAND, Ore. — Back in the lumber woods of Oregon are running wooden railroads which cost but a fraction of what steel roads cost. These roads, with rails made entirely of wood, have been found to reduce the cost of transporting timber from $3 to 50 cents a thousand feet. The rails hold up as well under the wooden wheels of the trains as steel rails do under iron wheels.

tered Whittier high school, 45-50. Whittier won the recent Southern Counties tournament at Huntington Beach and decisively defeated Glendale, the only school in the Coast Preparatory league that was conceded a chance to do much with Long Beach.

Long Beach made its junior college quintet, which has lost only two games in three years, the underdog against Santa Ana and even went so far as to make the poor old Santa Ana Saints, who haven't cashed in for so many years that it grieves to mention it, favorites over Woodrow Wilson, another Long Beach representative.

WHAT DOES THAT MAKE JOE?

Vivencio Alacante will be a main-eventer at the Hollywood Legion stadium tonight. He boxes Bobby Relster.

Hollywood press agents have Alacante built up as the welterweight champion of the Philippines, styled as a marvelous boxer, a Dempsey puncher.

Now what does that make our young Mr. Joe Ruiz, nee Reese?

On November 6 last, Mr. Ruiz almost knocked Mr. Alacante back to Manila in a main event at the Orange County Athletic club. "Fighting Joe" outboxed, outfoxed and outhit the Filipino.

Water Topic At Fullerton Realty Board Gathering

CAPISTRANO STORE OWNER DROPS DEAD

FULLERTON, Jan. 16.—Questions regarding the Metropolitan Water district were heard and discussed at the monthly meeting of the Fullerton Realty board at noon today in McFarland's cafe, when Walter Humphreys, Fullerton's official representative on the board of directors of the district since the city made application to join, and C. M. Thorpe, city engineer, told of the detailed plans for the district and the need of this district of the water.

A large number of voters and property owners attended the meeting to clear up questions regarding the district. Voters of Fullerton will decide whether or not Fullerton will become a member of the district, at the special election which will be held January 20.

The discussion followed the regular noon luncheon. New officers of the club were in charge of the meeting for the first time.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR AUXILIARY COUNCIL

Seventy delegates of the county council of the Legion Auxiliary met in all day session Tuesday at the Woman's club house at La Habra. Mrs. L. A. Stumbo, of Brea, was elected president of the council to take the place of Mrs. Myrtle Cain, of Santa Ana, who tendered her resignation at the meeting.

Mrs. Ethel Marsh spoke of the meeting of the department directors at Fresno at which the state president, Mrs. Marie Dunkle, was in charge.

Mrs. Beatrice Steele, of San Bernardino, outlined some of the work for the auxiliary with suggestions as to carrying out the program.

Reports from the president of the various units were read telling of the work accomplished during the year by their unit.

The next meeting of the council will be held in Santa Ana February 10.

Another of the popular card parties being sponsored by Trinity Rebekah lodge is to be held in Masonic hall here Monday night of next week, it was announced today by Mrs. Ellen Croteau, who will be in charge of arrangements.

James J. Hollowell, South Flower street, has received word of the death of his brother, John Hollowell, Los Angeles. Mr. Hollowell was a resident of Brea about 17 years ago.

OCEANVIEW, Jan. 16.—Oceanview school boys' team won by a score of 26 to 8 Wednesday afternoon in the first league game played in the series of basketball games to be played in the Pacific Athletic league. The opponent of Oceanview in this game was Hoover school at Westminster. A practice game was played one evening recently by the Oceanview boys with a Huntington Beach school team.

Camp Fire Girls of the seventh and eighth grades of the Oceanview school were given a treat when their guardian, Miss Grace Washburn, three other teachers of the school, Miss Rosenbaum, Miss Schallenberg and Miss Susan Russell and several of the mothers, Mrs. Burdette, Mrs. Clinton Brush, Mrs. Sizer, Mrs. Turner and young son, Dickie Turner, took them on a mountain trip to Mt. Baldy.

The Camp Fire Girls included Mary Lou Hurt, Josephine Welch, Gladys Clement, Helen Brown, Mozzelle Turner, Masaka Hirami, Minnie Sizer, Beniah Lewis, Pauline Lawrence, Opal DeBusk, Dorothy Breeding, Margaret Maze, Nubuko Furuta, Lois Treese, Ruth Ingerson, Lily Sizer, Helen Stevert, Marie Kratz and Barbara Parr.

Girls of Miss Grace Washburn's eighth grade class entertained the mothers of the room with a delightful social hour Thursday afternoon at which time they served tea and also exhibited samples of the work accomplished in their sewing class.

The regular meeting of the Oceanview Parent-Teacher association is scheduled for next Wednesday afternoon, the meeting, as usual, to be held at the school. Jack Lewton, pupil of the third grade of the school, fell on the cement at school one day this week while playing at the noon hour, breaking an arm. He has missed some time from his classes as a result.

Wednesday afternoon Mary Helen Treese sustained a seriously sprained ankle when she fell at the playground at school and as a result is getting about on crutches.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Taniac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years standing.

Mr. L. B. Simmons, of 1434 Larimer St., Denver, Colo., says: "Tanic made me relish and digest my food fine. It also cured me of gas, dizzy spells and nervousness. Now I sleep well and can put in as good a day's work as a youngster."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Taniac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and bark. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

To Celebrate 18th Amendment Anniversary Tonight

W.C.T.U. WILL BE IN CHARGE
OF CEREMONY

SCOUT LEADER

Harrison E. White, shown below, will take office on February 1 as Scout executive of Orange county. He will succeed George G. Walker, who announced his resignation yesterday. Walker will take charge of the South Pasadena district for the Scout organization. White formerly was in charge of the San Jose area.

Celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the adoption of the eighteenth amendment, special services will be held at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South corner of Church street and Broadway, at 7:30 p.m. today, under the auspices of the Santa Ana Women's Christian Temperance union.

The principal speaker will be the Rev. Andrew Johnson, of Kentucky, conference evangelist of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Church of the Nazarene. His subject will be "Keeping the Kick in the Eighteenth Amendment and Taking the Boot Off the Bootlegger," in which he will discuss the present prohibition crisis and how to meet it. Col. Johnson ran for congress and was nominated for governor of Kentucky on the dry ticket and has made more than 250 speeches on the dry question.

Mrs. Amy Evans, president of the Santa Ana W.C.T.U. organization, will preside at the meeting tonight. Special music will include numbers by Roy Stephens, Pasadena tenor, who is instructor in voice at La Verne college, and Mrs. U. E. Hardin of Santa Ana.

The speaker of the evening will be introduced by Attorney L. A. West, an official of the church who was a former neighbor of Dr. Johnson in Kentucky.

Court Notes

Judgment of former Justice of the Peace G. W. Ingle, of Orange, has been sustained following trial of a case before Judge James L. Allen on appeal from the Orange justice court. The judgment gives an award of $250 to Thomas E. Grunwell, et al., against L. R. Doncaster. The plaintiffs had sued for $250 for alleged destruction of buildings on property leased by the defendant.

A damage action asking judgment of $500 for injuries alleged to have been received in an automobile accident at Fullerton last October has been filed in superior court against Marion C. Blake and Lois M. Jewell in behalf of Rosina Smith, 18, by her aunt, Katherine Caldwell, as guardian.

The suit filed last August the First National bank of Orange by August Wellhausen, in which he asked rescission of a declaration of trust and return of the control and management of a property valued in excess of $40,000, has been terminated in superior court after a hearing before Judge H. G. Ames. Judgment was entered in accordance with terms of an agreement reached by the plaintiff, the bank and prospective heirs of the plaintiff, whereby the bank is to continue in its administration of the affairs of Wellhausen as provided in the trust agreement, with the exception that Adolph Wellhausen is to become one of the beneficiaries. Formerly Hendrich Wellhausen was the exclusive beneficiary.

PRODUCTION OF
BARRIE COMEDY
WINS APPLAUSE

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

A thoroughly charming and typically Barrie-esque play, delightfully presented.

Such was the verdict rendered by "first nighters" at the current Community Players' production, "What Every Woman Knows," which last night had its Santa Ana premiere in the Ebell auditorium, meeting with warmly expressed approval of the good sized audience assembled for the event.

Overcoming one handicap and disappointment after another, Harriet Owens Enderle, director of this second in the season's program of the Santa Ana Players' association, rose to a gratifying success and presented her cast in a play that was smooth, well balanced, and above all, presented with a restraint that was thoroughly in keeping with the Scottish atmosphere suggested by setting, character cast, and indeed, the whole story.

That undeniably charm which Sir James M. Barrie exerts in his plays is present to the utmost in "What Every Woman Knows," and it seemed to the onlookers that the cast of local Thespians succeeded admirably in translating that charm into terms completely understandable by an average American audience.

The clever lines brought laugh after laugh, and work of individual players was recognized with applause.

In developing the interesting story, the characters as they appeared on the stage were the father, "Alick Wyile," and his two sons, "James Wyile" and "David Wyile," played respectively by Frank Lansdown, Don Smith and J. Parley Smith. Lansdown was priceless in his delineation of a dour and canny Scot, portraying the role with that skill of characterization which has brought him rapidly to the fore in Community Players events. The picture was most convincing, and was aided by the manner in which the other two men sank their individualities in the exactions of their roles. "David" was the serious, thoughtful type of elder brother, calm in his judgments, forceful in their carrying out. "James" was the typical younger brother, inclined to a certain boisterousness, a slap-dash manner of doing things, rebellious of the restraint imposed upon him by the calmer judgment of his elders.

"Maggie Wyile," enacted by Joy Briscoe, was a delightful piece of work. Mrs. Briscoe invested the part with all the quite human imaginable, moving serenely and confidently to her goal. Her entire portrayal of the character was so consistent that it was a pleasure to watch. A demure little brown bird of a woman at the beginning of the play, she remained a demure little brown bird to the very end, serene, unshaken in her understanding of her husband, and fully aware of "What Every Woman Knows," a secret that is disclosed just before the final curtain, to such mere men as are not aware of the fact.

Her husband, "John Shand," gave a new role to Valmer Clark, a role completely opposite from anything he ever has done with the local association but to which he brought a fine restraint and skill that made it as convincing a piece of work as he ever has offered.

The very fact that "John Shand's" character is so totally at variance with the real Valmer Clark, added interest to his interpretation. "John" never had seen anything in the world to laugh about. How he was educated was a part of the pleasant plot and in the process a less skillful actor could have made "John" a very bombastic and unpleasant person indeed. But Clark used such discrimination in his portrayal that the audience was sympathetic and highly appreciative of the final results of his "education."

Miss Doris Robbins was a fascinating "Countess De la Brie," approaching the part with an intelligent comprehension that gave a faithful picture of a lovely lady charmed at the spectacle afforded her by the life around her.

Graziously patronizing in her first contacts with "Maggie," she conveyed to her audience her sympathetic understanding of the latter's activities, and her devoted friendship for the "Little Scottie."

Her niece, "Lady Sybil Tenterden," was laid by Miss Dorothy Mayhew, lovely as a dream, childishly longing for the toys that were not for her, and like the spoiled child of wealth, ruthlessly taking them until she tired of them. Miss Mayhew's work was a nice blend of sophistication and innocence, ranking high with her excellent portrayals of other Community Play characters.

As the statesman, "Sir Charles Venables," R. R. Miller brought all his suavity and skill to bear in making the character a very real one. Community Play audiences always expect a finished piece of work from him—and never are disappointed. Nor were they last night, for his picture of the statesman was his usual faultless portrayal.

There were two minor characters in the play, the maid, played by Miss Ruth Owens, and the footman, by Charles E. Bender.

There was only to lend atmosphere, but they had their part in making "What Every Woman Knows" a pleasant evening's entertainment, which will be repeated again tonight and tomorrow night in Ebell auditorium.

Adding an undoubtedly atmospheric to the evening was the program of old-time melodies and folksongs played between the acts by the Misses Audrey Granas, violinist, and Beatrice Granas, pianist. They will assist on the two remaining programs.

1. The prediction that in 1931 those merchants who attack conditions with a positive rather than negative policy will forge ahead.

2. The statement that those who retrenched most in 1930, cutting down on advertising, reducing salaries to employees, cheapening their goods, neglecting their displays, have been the ones who have failed to make financial progress.

3. Orange county and Santa Ana in particular are much better off in a business way than the majority realize.

4. Santa Ana building permits in 1930 showed about an 18 per cent increase while those in 78 other Southland cities registered a 29 per cent drop.

5. Orange county's 1930 agricultural income, when finally tabulated, will show a substantial increase over that of 1929, with a probable 25 per cent boost in citrus income offsetting possible declines in returns from other crops.

This prediction is based on an interview with A. A. Brock, county agricultural commissioner, and while the figures are not final they are an indication of what may be expected.

6. One Santa Ana firm which reported a large increase in sales volume spent twice as much on advertising in 1930 as it did in 1929.

Frank Was Optimistic

Highlights in the talk delivered by Was were as follows:

1. There is $21,000,000 on deposit in Santa Ana banks and $4,000,000 in building and loan associations, which amounts to approximately $833 per capita on a basis of 30,000 population.

2. Hard times here have been nothing but a joke, comparatively. With property having an actual value of about $600,000,000 and with a population of 118,000 persons to spread it over, a large portion of which is productive, there are resources here to carry the county through any slump.

3. The large amounts of money

ADVERTISING AND AGGRESSIVE
METHODS CONQUER DEPRESSION
FOR MERCHANTS HERE IN 1930

Santa Ana business men who have advertised more instead of less, who have improved their displays, launched aggressive sales campaigns, preserved the quality of their goods, who have spent money wisely for development rather than adopting a policy of retrenchment are the ones who have forged ahead with larger sales volume and profits during the present depression.

This is the conclusion reached by James Sewell, supervising agent here for the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, as the result of a business survey conducted for the Orange County Life Underwriters association. Sewell presented his facts, figures and conclusions last night at a meeting of the organization in the Santa Ana cafe.

At the same session Frank J. Was, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Security First National bank of Los Angeles, outlined some of the lessons learned by the business as a result of the slump, pointed out that Orange county really has not felt serious effects of the unsettled business condition, stated that considerable money is laying in the banks waiting for the proper time to invest, and declared that high officials of his bank predict that in April or May this cash will begin to flow into business channels, stimulating trade and heralding general improvement in business conditions.

Outstanding points in Sewell's talk were:

1. The prediction that in 1931 those merchants who attack conditions with a positive rather than negative policy will forge ahead.

2. The statement that those who retrenched most in 1930, cutting down on advertising, reducing salaries to employees, cheapening their goods, neglecting their displays, have been the ones who have failed to make financial progress.

3. Orange county and Santa Ana in particular are much better off in a business way than the majority realize.

4. Santa Ana building permits in 1930 showed about an 18 per cent increase while those in 78 other Southland cities registered a 29 per cent drop.

5. Orange county's 1930 agricultural income, when finally tabulated, will show a substantial increase over that of 1929, with a probable 25 per cent boost in citrus income offsetting possible declines in returns from other crops.

This prediction is based on an interview with A. A. Brock, county agricultural commissioner, and while the figures are not final they are an indication of what may be expected.

6. One Santa Ana firm which reported a large increase in sales volume spent twice as much on advertising in 1930 as it did in 1929.

SQUIRRELS ARE TARGET OF GAS
ATTACKS HERE

Ground squirrels are being made the subject of a campaign of extinction which is conducted annually at this time of the year by the county department of agriculture. It was shown in the report of A. A. Brock, county agricultural commissioner, for the month of December, which has just been filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs. The report also shows other phases of activity of the department during the month, including quarantine, inspection and work with growers of the county.

In the campaign against the ground squirrels, which was started last month, carbon bisulfide gas is being used and inspectors of the department examined 108,911 acres for the pests. Later in the season thallium poisoning will be used. This is regarded as one of the most effective methods of destroying the pests.

Several important interceptions of plant shipments were made during the month by the department in its quarantine work, including apples from territory infested with the Oriental fruit moth, cotton from Tennessee and holly and wreaths from territory where certain types of undesirable scale and moth are found.

More success than usual has been met by efforts of the department this year in persuading pepper growers to destroy hold-over plants and nightshades in the campaign against pepper weevil, the report shows.

During the month orchard inspections were made by the department covering 9047 acres of citrus groves and 36 acres of walnut groves. Fumigation was used on 60,740 trees at a cost to the growers of $18,428.08 while $20,715 citrus trees and $656 walnut trees were sprayed during the month at respective costs of $142,219.91 and $1600.34.

The report states that while some damage was caused to the citrus crop by the recent frost, it is believed that it is so slight that the fruit will pass the standardization requirements.

Intended to attack invading batterflies along the Atlantic coast, a 12-inch mortar railway gun recently underwent successful tests in the United States. The gun fires a missile which travels to a height of about 1700 feet, and has a range of from one to nine miles.

Music was furnished by Sewell, singing "On the Road to Mandalay," accompanied by Paul Le Bar; and by D. C. Clanton, director of the Santa Ana Municipal band, also accompanied by Le Bar. Clanton played a group of trombone solos including "The Old Re-fain" and "I Hear You Calling Me."

SEEEKS DAMAGES

Damages totalling $10,000 are asked in a complaint which was filed in superior court yesterday by L. R. Womack. The action is directed against James W. Co-Hostesses Join In Presenting Pleasant Bridge Evening

Marked by the charm of hospitality and friendliness was a pretty bridge party given Wednesday night by Mrs. Edna Holbrook and Mrs. Katherine Stevens in the home of Mrs. Holbrook at 514 North Main street.

Tables for bridge were placed amidst the brilliant poinsettias used in decorations, and in the contest which followed, Mr. and Mrs. Barnell scored high. She was awarded the pretty first prize, while second and consolation gifts fell to Miss June Beshears and Mrs. McLain respectively, and Miss Glenna Young received the prize on a lucky cutting of the cards.

In serving an elaborate refreshment course as the evening drew to a close, the co-hostesses arranged the card tables with dainty linens and decorations that harmonized with the vivid hues of the poinsettias. Their guests included Miss Florence McQueen, Mrs. Rose Hardcastle, Mrs. Jappa Heck, Mrs. Margaret Hurlbut, Miss Glenn Young, Miss Nadine Holbrook, Mrs. Mildred Bolton, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Irene Allen, Mrs. Ruth Darnell, Miss June Beshears and Mrs. Lee Sell.

Attended by an unusual amount of interest, the organization of a junior auxiliary to the Emma Sansom chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was effected Wednesday night at a special meeting held in the home of the Misses Gertrude and Louise Montgomery, 1418 North Main street, with Miss Gertrude Montgomery, president of the Emma Sansom chapter, presiding.

Miss Montgomery gave a brief talk outlining the aims and policies of the parent chapter, its name, and its chief objective at present, to lend support to Dixie Manor, the home for Confederate veterans of the Civil war, in San Gabriel. She also told of tentative plans for the formation of the auxiliary, and what is planned for future meetings and activities.

In a business session which followed, Mrs. Cassius Paul was chosen as chairman of the new organization; Mrs. George Gaylord, of Tustin, assistant chairman; Miss Louise Maloney, secretary, and Miss Jessie Coons of Anaheim, treasurer. Miss Louise Montgomery was named as program chairman with Mrs. Tarver Montgomery and Miss Deane Sue Russell as her assistants.

Mrs. Victor Montgomery, founder of the Emma Sansom chapter and its president for 15 years and also a past president in the state organization, gave invaluable assistance to the young women in forming their organization, and many of her suggestions will be acted upon at once. Meetings are to be held each month on the first Wednesday night of each month, the members entertaining in their homes. Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Gaylord will be hostesses at the February meeting.

At the conclusion of the business program of the organization meeting, Miss Louise Montgomery presided at the serving of a delicious refreshment course for which tables were made charming with exquisite linens and slender canapes rising from brilliant chrysanthemum holders.

S. O. A. Club Member Is Made Honoree On Birthday

That lively group comprising the S. O. A. club held a most enjoyable meeting Wednesday afternoon, when it was entertained by Mrs. William Batt in her home in Orange, the occasion being an observance of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Leland Eubank, one of the club members.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock in the dining room, whose prettily appointed table was expressive of the orchid and pink color scheme carried out in all of the decorations. Forming the centerpiece was a bowl of orchid and pink sweet peas and stocks. Orchid tapers and nutcups added their note to the color harmony. A delectable feature of the last course was a lovely orchid and white checkerboard birthday cake, iced in orchid, which had been baked by Mrs. Merriman.

In the game contest of the evening, Everett Montgomery scored high and was presented with first prize, while consolation went to Mr. Propst. As a finale to the enjoyable evening, tables were arranged for serving appetizing sandwiches and coffee, followed by ice cream and two handsome birthday cakes, one for each complimented guest.

Sharing the evening's pleasures were Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Propst and Mr. and Mrs. Don Collins of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Montgomery and little daughter, Barbara Ann. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Montgomery, Miss Ida Montgomery and Perl Montgomery of this city.

Phi Zeta Sorority Will Initiate In February

Plans for an initiation to take place February 25 were made Wednesday evening when members of Phi Zeta sorority met with Mrs. Doris Garfield in her home at Newport Heights. At this time 12 young women will be pledged to membership.

A feature of the meeting was the election of Miss Louise Young as vice-president of the society, to fill the position left vacant by Mrs. Clarence Campbell, formerly Miss Mollie Mosher. Mrs. Maxine Bryte was appointed as official accompanist for the year and other business included several constitutional changes.

Interesting indeed was the review of Debussy as given by Mrs. Bryte as the main event of the program. To conclude the worthwhile meeting, the hostess served a tempting supper. Mrs. Pearl Hyde will be hostess at the next meeting, which will be held January 28.

Those present, other than Mrs. Garfield were Mrs. Pearl Hyde, Mrs. Maxine Bryte, Mrs. Blanche Ownen, Mrs. Marguerite Baker, Mrs. Dale Park, Miss Louise Young and Miss Georgia Belle Walton.

Pretty Party Honors Twelfth Birthday Anniversary

It was to compliment her daughter, Miss Blanche Ivins, on the anniversary of her twelfth birthday that Mrs. Roy Ivins yesterday entertained in their home at 1002 Cypress avenue. Guests enjoyed an afternoon of games and contests, and were ready with healthy appetites when the hostess escorted them to the dining room.

Mrs. Daisy McGee assisted Mrs. Ivins in preparing for the refreshment hour. Table appointments were carried out in pink and green, and had as a central figure a large bouquet of vari-colored sweet peas. Tall tapers cast their soft glow over the pretty scene, completed with clever little nut cups in the prevailing colors. A large birthday cake was iced in pink, and topped with gleaming candles. Many were the desirable gifts which the little honoree received.

Those present, other than Miss Blanche Ivins, were Naomi Steele, Barbara and Marjorie Merigold, Eva and Hazel Berger, Ben and Merle Nolan and Russell Elligot.

The circle has done much to promote the success of Calumpit camp and auxiliary in the past. Luella Randal succeeds Elizabeth Erickson as chairman. Mrs. Erickson is now entering upon the duties of president of Calumpit auxiliary for the coming year. The next meeting will be held February 11 in the home of Mrs. Dresser, 1523 French street.

Three talks were features of the afternoon, and the first of these was given by Mrs. Owens on "Manners." "Self Control" was discussed by Mrs. Charles G. Nalle. Comus Club Election Features Annual Dinner Dance

Although Comus club affairs usually prove to be outstanding events of the month in which they take place, last evening's annual formal dinner dance held in Orange Legion hall, was exceptionally pleasant. A large group of members attended, and with them were guests from various cities.

An important feature of the evening was the election of officers for this year. Reginald Barker was chosen as president, and to serve with him were Dr. W. A. Flood, Edwin Holmes, Lester Carden and Joseph Peterson, as the board of directors. Mrs. E. B. Trager was re-elected as secretary. The outgoing president, Charles L. Davis, gave a worth-while address.

Decorations for the dinner hour evidenced a mid-winter theme. Strewn the length of the tables were holly branches, enhanced by alternate red and green tapers. However, more suggestive of the gaiety and transiency beauty of spring were the branches of Japanese quince which decked the hall, and whose delicate pink blossoms were rivalled in beauty only by the colorful frocks of the guests.

It was to the crowning notes of James Merigold's orchestra that the hours were danced away.

Past Matrons Have Luncheon In New Church Unit

The new educational unit of the First Christian church yesterday provided an attractive setting for the luncheon of the Past Matrons' association of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S. All details for the affair were beautifully worked out, and were in charge of the hostess committee comprising Mrs. James Tarpley, Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, Mrs. C. E. Moore and Miss Pauline Reinhaus.

Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, worthy matron of Hermosa chapter and Mrs. Maggie Moore were guests of honor. The latter was admitted as a member of the association. Birthday anniversaries of five members were observed, with Mrs. G. R. Safley and Mrs. Thomas Brooks sharing the same natal date, and Mrs. Blanche Hansen and Mrs. Marie Beisel doing likewise. Miss Pauline Reinhaus had no twin with whom to commemorate this annual event.

It was in honor of these birthday days that all details were planned, and to Mrs. C. E. Moore was given credit for the decorative effect achieved at the tables, arranged in the form of a cross. A large basket of exquisitely-tinted gladioluses, including some especially lovely yellow ones formed the central figures. From this pink and white streamers reached to the four corners of the tables, and were held in place by colorful little kewps. Beside each of the little figures was a cradle basket of delicate blossoms. Women of the First Christian church served the delectable luncheon.

A pleasant feature of the menu hour was the reading of humorous New Year's resolutions found at each place. A business meeting followed early in the afternoon. The devotional hour was conducted by Mrs. W. A. Atkinson, who gave a version of the Twenty-third Psalm as related by a missionary. Details of current interest were given during the talk.

Those present included Mesdames W. A. Atkinson, C. D. Bright, J. C. Burke, Thomas Brooks, Jacob Bohlander, F. H. Cloyes, F. D. Drake, C. S. Dunphy, C. W. Ellis, W. F. Finn, A. W. Griffith, M. M. Woman Voters

League of Woman Voters was privileged to have H. E. Kellington, probation officer in the Los Angeles courts for the past 20 years, as speaker yesterday at the noon luncheon in Ketner's cafe.

His years of experience have given him an insight into the cause of juvenile delinquency, and many valuable ideas for its control and cure, which were expressed in his talk. His sympathetic attitude towards youth was expressed in his pointing out the pitfalls for young people.

Heredity and environment are cited as outstanding causes for juvenile delinquency, with emphasis placed on environment as its cure. In developing his theme, the speaker stated that it would be well if youth might be taught ethics in married life, as too many young people enter that relation without realizing the responsibilities they are assuming, or the importance of retaining the love which brought them together.

He furthermore approved of the study of legislative measures on the part of the women, especially those pertaining to women and children, and advocated more playgrounds with proper supervision.

The League meets on the first Friday of each month for the study of proposed legislative measures.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

How To Stop Worrying—Relax
The model novel of by-gone days had much to say about women having "vapors." As you know, the word vapor means a clouded, misty condition. Applied to the mental condition of a human being, the Rabeslavian modern would freely and joyously translate it as meaning "goofy, nutty, or what-having."

But "vapors" still exist, especially with women, and the time when they are most prevalent is in the early morning, just as you awaken. If you go to bed with some trouble-some thing worrying you, you will wake up with a vague sense of ill-being and impending calamity, you will get up, dress, and go through the morning's work before this mental condition will wear off.

If unchecked, this vague worrying becomes a fixed habit and you lose much happiness out of life and what is still worse, needlessly cloud the happiness of your family. There is a way out of this bad habit and it is this—

When you wake up feeling that the whole world has gone to pot and that you will be forced into bankruptcy because you can't meet all of your bills for the month, just take a grip on yourself and look back over similar days and remember that your needs were met in some way, either by having funds or by extended credit.

Make a desperate effort to quiet your worried mind—to relax. The easiest way to do this is to make yourself comfortable in bed and then stretch just as you see a cat stretch. It is just marvelous how it loosens tension, wakes up foggy heads and blows the vapors away. Then get up and trust to the luck or Providence which has carried you through before. Worry does not change the final issue one iota, but it does wreck you.

2 cups brown sugar
2-3 cup dark cooking molasses
1 cup milk (sweet)
4 eggs, well beaten
2-3 cup butter or substitute
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1-2 teaspoon each, nutmeg, ground cloves and cinnamon

Peel sweet potatoes and parboil for 15 minutes, drain cool, then grate to a fine meal on a vegetable shredder. Cream the butter and sugar, add the beaten eggs and molasses and whip with the egg beaters. Add also the spice so they may be well mixed. Then alternate the milk and shredded potato, fold in the grated rind and put the mixture into a buttered pan and to bake in a slow oven for an hour. Turn it out on a hot plate and slice down to serve.

Let me suggest baking the pone in a tube cake pan or a round mould, then filling the center with some sort of creamed mixture, ham, chicken, eggs, or a creamed vegetable mixture like carrots and peas. This gives your family a well balanced meal.

The calory total for the pone is about 3600, with energy making units predominating although nicely balanced by the milk and egg protein. The pone serves eight.

NEW DENNY COMEDY AT FOX WEST COAST

'SCANDAL SHEET' AT BROADWAY ON TODAY

With its underlying note the strange whims that beset woman-kind at times, "Oh, For A Man!" a Fox movietone production, opens today at the Fox West Coast theater.

The cast is headed by Jeanette MacDonald and Reginald Denny with an all star support.

The story is a beautiful, successful and much courted prima donna who rejects suitor after suitor only to fall in love with and finally marry a burglar. They separate but strange circumstances enter into their lives which result in their reunion and continued love.

"Oh, For A Man!" was directed by Hamilton MacFadden. There is not a dull moment and the song numbers, including the closing aria from "Tristan and Isolde," rendered by Miss MacDonald, are logically interpolated.

The settings, especially of an Italian villa and garden, are beautiful to the eye while the feminine portion of the audience will find the gowns worn by Miss MacDonald worth more than a passing glance of notice.

"Oh, For A Man!" is one of the gems of screen entertainment that come too rarely. To miss it is to miss the smartest treat of the season.

"YOUNG EAGLES" AT WALKER'S TODAY

Those who thrilled to the daring air feats in the epic of war aviation, "Wings," are due for another heart-gripping treat when the new, all-talking romance of the war aces, "Young Eagles," zooms into town for its two-day showing at Walker's State theater. Charles (Buddy) Rogers, who made his first great hit in "Wings," is the star of "Young Eagles," and William ("Wings") Wellman directed.

"Young Eagles" moves with terrific speed through exciting events on the battle front and in wartime Paris, the glamorous, tinsel city to which the soldiers flock on their brief leaves from the front. Hundreds of dare-devil pilots zoom and dip dangerously in the realistic air battle scenes. And an intensely interesting situation grows up around the friendship of Buddy, as the American ace, for Paul Lukas, his enemy of the skies.

Among these were six flag girls, and all those taking part were dressed in white satin. New officers are Bertha Thorpe, Pocahontas; Florence Mackel, prophetess; Ora Hunton, Wenonah, and Frank Thorpe, Powhatan. A profusion of greenery decked the hall, and formed an attractive background for the installation and the refreshment hour which followed. The tempting menu was served at tables carrying out an orchid and green motif.

The past Pocahontas, Florence Mackel, was presented the past

TURNING THE TABLES
ITHACA, N. Y.—Mosquitoes are hard on humans in the summer, and now scientists at Cornell University have found a way to turn the tables on the insects. By introducing a plant in the bottoms of stagnant pools containing the larvae of mosquitoes, the scientists found that oxygen given off by this plant, the chara, killed the larvae. It is planned to introduce this plant all over the country.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Jan. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana motored to the entrance of the Los Angeles playground Sunday and turned back and went to Victorville instead.

A new 16-inch well is being drilled on the Harry Woodington ranch.

The carpentry work on the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hell at the corner of Huntington Beach boulevard and Smeltzer road has been completed—the tinting of a number of rooms on the interior and the applying of two more coats of the outside paint, the putting in of the hardwood floors and the laying of the linoleum will complete the residence.

Mrs. Merle Hurst of Los Angeles, has been spending a week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore, and assisting her father in his office.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerhart, who are spending some months here from Williams and visiting in the J. A. Murdy home, accompanied by Mr. Murdy and Miss Ella Murdy, spent one day at Manhattan Beach and another at Los Angeles during the week. They were entertained in the home of Mrs. Alma Rainier.

It is thought that the bean cleaning season will terminate the last of this month or early next month if the present run is maintained.

A new garage is being erected on the former home place of Mrs. Jane Cunningham, the new building being located between the former residence and the house which was recently moved in just north of it.

In observance of the fifth birthday anniversary of her youngest son, Larry, Mrs. Ray Moore entertained with a children's party at her home, the children enjoying a peanut hunt and other games appropriate for small children, after which they were invited into the home for the refreshment hour.

Mrs. Moore had one long table set for the entire number. A pretty effect was secured by the hostess in her decorative scheme of red and white which included the nut cups and place cards and favors and also the beautiful birthday cake of white with red tapers, which centered the table and was served on the delicious menu.

The guest list for the party included Dorothy and Maxine and Jack Murdy, Vivian and Marlene Gothard, Dale Ellis, Bobby Letson, Wesley Matson, Roger Dean Graham, Violet and Vivian Wilson of Montebello and the honor guest, Larry Moore.

Mrs. Matson and Mrs. Charles Graham remained for the afternoon and Mrs. Merle Hurst, of Los Angeles, assisted her in the hostess duties.

Mr. and Mrs. David Holclaw and son were Sunday visitors in Riverside, where they were entertained by friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haas, of Anaheim, and Iris Haas, of Perris, were entertained on Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hell were hosts at a dinner party which was given in honor of Mrs. Hell's brother, William S. Allen, and bride, of Santa Ana. A turkey dinner was served and a beautiful wedding cake centered the dinner table.

Those present at the social affair were the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hell, and two sons, Mrs. C. S. Allen, Mrs. Minnie Allen and Miss Cleo Allen, of Santa Ana, and the hosts, Mr. and Bobby and Billy Hell.

LA HABRA

RECENTLY, Another guest was Homer Croy and wife.

Mrs. Guy Miller was hostess on Monday afternoon to a group of playmates of her little daughter, Frankie Mae, on the occasion of her fifth birthday.

A yellow and pink color scheme was used at the party and on the birthday cake which was served at the close of the afternoon with ice cream.

The little guests were Junior Pelzer, Elbert Lee Ratliff, Peggy Sue Morgan, Delwin McGregor, Richard Frost, Mrs. Magnus Pellerin, Mrs. Walter Morgan, Mrs. R. E. Frost and Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Norfleet Callicott was hostess to members of the Young Matrons' club at her home in Whittier Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was devoted to bridge. Winners were Mrs. I. Thomas, first; Mrs. J. Abbott, second; and Mrs. J. Hawley consolation.

A 1 o'clock luncheon was served by the hostess preceding the games. Guests were Mrs. Ed Sigmund, Mr. J. Peak, Mrs. J. Abbott, Mrs. J. Hawks, Mrs. I. Thomas of Whittier, Mrs. Lester Baldwin, Mrs. James Whitelock and Mrs. Ben Vandenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Winn have returned to their home in Plattsburg, Mo., after spending a month in southern California. They have been visiting at the home of Mrs. George Gordon.

George Gordon and J. Breckenridge Ellis, novelist, visited Lee Shipey at his home in Sierra Madre.

THE "BEAUTY" THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN!

NOTHING is sadder than a girl who just misses being beautiful. Often the reason is simple—improper elimination.

The poisons from constipation often cause pimples, sallow skin, dull eyes—headaches and even serious disease.

But every girl can banish the evils of constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. Its bulk sweeps the system clean.

Two tablespoonsfuls daily are a wonderful health prescription. Try it with milk. Add fruits or honey. Delicious when combined with canned peaches. ALL-BRAN is non-fattening.

Ask for Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BOILED SALAD DRESSING

3 tablespoons Wesson oil, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cup milk, sweet or slightly sour, 1-2 cup mild vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1-2 teaspoon cayenne, 2 eggs.

Stir the dry ingredients into the Wesson oil which has been put in a double boiler top. Add the milk and cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture takes on the consistency of cream. Beat the egg yolks slightly, add the vinegar, pour into the first mixture and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Chill and fold in the beaten eggs whites. A favorite dressing for potato or other vegetable salads.

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE

2-3 cup Snowdrift, 4 egg whites, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract, 3 cups sifted flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 cups sugar, 3-4 cup milk.

Beat smooth and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into two greased nine inch layer cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees for twenty-five minutes. Put together with Lady Baltimore filling.

LADY BALTIMORE FILLING

2 Tablespoons Snowdrift, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1-4 cup chopped raisins, 1-4 cup chopped cherries, 4 cups (XXXX) sugar, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup chopped walnuts, 1-4 chopped dates, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Cream together the Snowdrift, salt and sugar, adding the sugar gradually. To one-half of the mixture, add the flavoring, one tablespoon lemon juice, and enough milk to make it the right consistency to spread. Use this for icing the top. To the remainder add the fruit, one tablespoon of lemon juice and enough milk to make it the right consistency to spread. Use this between the layers as filling.

DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

4 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 1 egg yolk, 1-4 cup Snowdrift, 1-4 cup sour milk, 1 egg, 1-8 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Melt chocolate over hot water, add 1-2 cup sugar and gradually the sweet milk. Add egg yolk and cook until mixture thickens. Set aside to cool. THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

NEW FOOD ON MARKET

Development of a low-priced ready-to-use spread with natural color ready for use as it comes from the package making artificial coloring unnecessary, yet selling at the same price as quality white margarine, is heralded in food circles as one of the outstanding scientific achievements in the history of margarine since this widely used food was first employed as part of the rations of Napoleon's armies in the Franco-Prussian war.

This new food now being marketed nationally is called Golden Troco and is a pure vegetable-nut product made without animal fats. Durkee Famous Foods, Inc., through its research division, perfected and introduced the new food, pioneering in successful discovery of a process for making natural color ready-to-serve vegetable margarine which the margarine industry has long sought. Golden Troco is distributed to local stores by units of the nation-wide General Foods-Hellmann auto truck delivery system, one of the largest in the country, and the newest method of handling perishable foods to insure freshness when bought by the customer.

Use of margarine in the United States, while still far below the record of many European countries, has shown a decided increase in the past few years, and the achievement of natural color in a low-cost spread, which makes color capsules and home mixes unnecessary, completed the last step in perfection of this modern food, experts say.

Acceptance of Golden Troco in cities where it has been introduced has been extremely favorable, according to reports to the manufacturers from distributors and retail dealers.

WOMEN'S FACES DISCUSSED BY NOTED BRITONS

LONDON, England—(INS)—Women's faces are becoming more purposeful and more intelligent according to British portrait painters and photographers.

The change is attributed to the greater activities and responsibilities of modern life.

Richard Speight, who takes all the pictures of the King and Queen and their family, says: "The modern young girl has a stronger character in her face than the girl of thirty years ago."

"Sports and athletics have undoubtedly helped the modern women to develop features which are full of concentration and entirely different from the doll-like women of other generations."

But the faces of the present day girls are not so happy as those of their predecessors, according to C. R. W. Nevinson, the famous artist.

"The noise and strain and rapidity of modern life," he says, "have produced an unhappy, haggard, and tense expression which is entirely opposed to the merry prettiness one used to see everywhere. Too much strain and responsibility are aging the women of today before their time."

"The more intelligent and active part which modern women take in life is undoubtedly reflected in their faces," says Janet Jevons, another photographer to the British court.

On the other hand many beauty specialists say that the craze for slimness is injuring modern women's looks.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Jan. 16.—C. E. Overman has left for Clinton, Kans., for a few weeks visit.

The Cotton Blossom singers will furnish the program at the regular meeting of the Methodist Men's brotherhood, January 27. Section three of the Ladies' Aid will prepare the 6:30 o'clock dinner.

J. G. Colley has left for Stoutsland, Mo., where he was called by the illness of his mother.

Former residents of Blair, Neb., will hold their mid-year reunion at the home of Mrs. Minnie Williams February 1. All former residents of the town are invited to attend. Last year 70 were present at a picnic dinner served at the home of Mrs. Williams.

Officers and heads of the executive committees of the Methodist

Men's brotherhood were guests of the president, Edgar Leutwiler, Monday evening for a 6:30 o'clock dinner. Following the dinner plans for the year's work were made. Those present were G. E. Sutton, L. E. Weide, E. E. Proudfit, M. J. Pickering, J. L. Morris, H. A. Randall and the Rev. Daniel Dundas.

Mrs. W. S. Randall was elected president of the Bide-A-Wee club at the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Overman. Mrs. Leo Hinshaw was elected vice president and Mrs. Bert Hampton was elected secretary-treasurer.

As this is the first meeting of the year a report of the year's work by committees was made. Plans were laid for a party to be held February 14 at the home of Mrs. Roland Hampton. The affair will be a Valentine party to which the husbands and families of the members will be invited.

Following the business meeting the afternoon was spent in needlework. Twenty were present at the meeting. Two visitors were present. They were Mrs. Mary Souder and Mrs. G. H. Pease of Los Angeles. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. H. A. Randall was hostess Wednesday afternoon to members of the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church at her home on West Erna street. It was decided to hold the monthly meetings on the second Wednesday afternoons hereafter.

Mrs. Sheridan Phillips conducted the devotions and Mrs. Randall presided at the meeting. Mrs. Phillips gave a lesson from "Through Temple Doors" and Mrs. C. E. Varney gave the first chapter on a new book called, "A Cloud of Witnesses." An offering was taken to help defray the passage of Mrs. Lora M. White on her return trip to China, where she is engaged in missionary work.

BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, Jan. 16.—The Buena Park Masonic lodge assisted the Pasadena lodge in conducting funeral services for Fred Seims, who was laid to rest in Pasadena Tuesday. Caryl B. Snyder, worshipful master of the local lodge, Ralph Huff, H. E. Warren, Wilton and William Abplanalp, William McLaughlin, Mrs. George Trap, Mrs. George Thomas and Mrs. Sam Winters were among the Buena Park people who attended the funeral.

Members of the Buena Park Kiwanis club surprised Henry Schmitz by calling at his home following the Kiwanis meeting Tuesday evening and reminding him of his birthday anniversary. The invitation was extended the Kiwanians by Mrs. Mary Boden, sister of the honoree, who served a late luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rennie and son, Ernest, who have been staying at Oxnard, where the Rennies brothers are working on a well, are spending several days this week at their home on East Eleventh street.

BUENA PARK, Jan. 16.—Mr.

and Mrs. Stone, of Huntington Park, were guests of Mrs. Stone's sisters, Mrs. Ella Foote and Miss Elizabeth Jones of Western avenue, Monday.

Mr. Jungkelt substituted as teacher during her absence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gardner visited their daughter, Miss Margaret Gardner, in Hollywood Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Foote and family, of Artesia, were dinner guests of Mrs. Ella Foote and Miss Elizabeth Jones Sunday.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Now that the tent was fixed up breakfast," said the friendly Travel Man. "We'll build a fire of sticks and stakes and then I'll make some fine pancakes. What? You don't think that possible? I'll show you that I can."

And, sure enough, the cakes were cooked and on them every Tiny Scout cried, "Say! I just heard a noise! And look! An elephant's back there. That gave me quite a sudden scare." The Travel Man jumped up and said, "I'll try to catch him, boys."

"He's just a baby, I feel quite sure. You'll find my lasso ain't no poor." He grabbed a rope and shouted, "Watch my peg!" The rope flew out and did the trick. Wee Clowny cried, "You sure are slick." The rope had caught the elephant around a big, fat leg.

The Tinymites have fun with the elephant in the next story.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES:

- In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't. TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.
- Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
- The order of the letters cannot be changed.

GIVE TO HEED—If you encounter any trouble solving this letter links hole, don't fail to GIVE HEED to the parties following you. Par is four.

School News

Julia Lathrop

Students of Julia Lathrop Junior high school came back from their holidays with a splendid spirit of co-operation and endeavor. The end of the semester, which occurs on January 28, will see the high nines leaving for high school, and the present low nines stepping into their places.

Since the end of the semester is so near, work is being completed and students are trying to do away with all incomplete and to bring up any back work which may be checked against their names.

Beside the added impetus to grades and the standing of the student in his class room, the end of the semester brings student body elections. Letters of application for candidacy have been coming in to Mr. Nelson all week. On Monday the party caucus was held, with two candidates nominated for each office. One candidate will be on the green side, and one on the white. Students may vote a straight green or white ticket, or they may split their tickets and vote for the best man for the office according to their judgment.

Radio Lecture

On Wednesday, January 7, the students of Miss Kline's and Miss Hazel Thrasher's guidance classes enjoyed a radio lecture by Gerald Campbell, the British consul. Mr. Campbell talked on the difference between the United States and Great Britain. He spoke of the labor depression, mentioned the fact that in England mechanical devices were not so widely used as they are in the United States. This means, of course, that more individuals are employed.

New Quarters

Beginning on Monday, January 5, Lathrop had access to the new unit of class rooms which has been under construction for some time. This unit, with its large, well-ventilated rooms and wide hallways, is a great asset to our building. The following teachers have moved into the new unit, thus relieving the congestion in the main buildings: Miss Foster, sewing, room 17; Mr. Gilnes, business training, room 14; Mr. Moenaw, mechanical drawing, room 38; Miss Tunmon, art, room 39; Miss Wyllie, art, room 40.

New Committee

Seven new members have been added to the student hall committee for supervision of the halls while classes are passing in the new section.

Assembly Programs

Friday is Assembly day at Lathrop. On January 8, there was a meeting of the Every Girl's club and the Boys' L. C. L. club, with the following programs:

Every Girl's Club

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Dorothy Gowdy.

A letter from Mrs. Bragg, principal of Delhi school, was read. The letter thanked Lathrop students for their gifts and entertainment of the Delhi children at Christmas. Miss Hortense Reid, education director of the Shakespearean Guild, announced two Shakespearean plays to be given at the high school auditorium on January 12 and 13. Guitar solo by Marie Lewis; address by Dr. Baker; presentation of a scene from the operetta "The Lady of the Terrace," to be given soon by the music department; reading, "Visit to the Dentist," Irene Wycuff; violin solo by Mary Houghster.

I. X. L. Club

Two solo numbers by members of the music department; scenes from the operetta; address on China, by the Rev. F. Dickey, who has spent 20 years in China.

This meeting was directed by the president, Donald Boyd.

Graduating Plans

Plans for the annual mid-year graduation are fairly definitely completed at the present time. Graduation will take place January 20, the first exercises marking the occasion being the baccalaureate service on Sunday, January 25 at the United Presbyterian church. The Rev. Mr. W. H. McPeak will deliver the sermon.

The class play, under the direction of Miss Ruth Langley, is now demanding considerable attention by those in the cast. "Port and Beans" is the title of the little play. It was originated by Mrs. Edith Thatcher, the vice-principal of Lathrop, and promised to be highly entertaining. The cast includes the following: La Anderson, George Bissett, John "School Advisor," Walter Hendrie, Bittle, Charles Blanchard, Lloyd Gibbs, Asa Hoffman, Idelle John-

MAN DECLARES HE HAS SOLVED GREAT PROBLEM

Reports of discovery of a method to secure electricity from the atmosphere and store it in sufficient quantities to light a home and furnish current for the operation of household electrical devices is contained in a recent edition of the Alma, Michigan, "Record and Journal." The story tells of the experiments of a 73 year old man who lives near Charlotte, Michigan, and asserts that for the past two years he has furnished current for his household needs by the method he has developed. The clipping from the Michigan paper follows:

"Once upon a time scientists spent years in trying to distill pure gold from various elements and adventurers gave their lives in seeking the elixir of eternal youth. In like manner skilled experts have been working more recently on the matter of obtaining electricity from the air. It has seemed that it should be so simple, and yet until recently more than one learned brood has knifed in vain over the problem.

"It has remained for Chauncey J. Britten, 73 year old rural resident, four miles from Charlotte, Michigan, to discover this secret and prove to the world that electricity can be taken from the air if one has the clever little trick. Mr. Britten was formerly a millwright at the Motor Wheel corporation in Lansing and so has some experience in the mechanical and scientific field.

Aged Man Is Genius

"Working quietly by himself Mr. Britten has succeeded in taking static electricity from the air. He has stored this electricity in normal batteries and for two years has lighted his farmhouse just four miles from Charlotte. In addition to lighting the house he can do anything with the new found power which any farmer can accomplish with the electric light plants now operated by gasoline or other engines.

"But the chief attraction in this wonderful invention lies in the fact that after installation costs, which will not exceed the cost of the present farm power plant, there is absolutely no further expense.

The electric power is free as the air from which it comes. A moment's thought will suggest only a little of what this will mean in future developments in American life, especially rural life.

"Fearing for the safety of his revolutionary invention Mr. Britten has secured the backing of 40 Charlotte and Lansing business men who so thoroughly believe in the new found treasure, that they have formed an incorporated company. The papers were granted a few weeks ago and these keep up to the minute men thus place the stamp of their sponsorship on the invention. The company will locate a laboratory at 326 South Hosmer street, Lansing, and there the inventor may develop the new process. In the laboratory Britten will carry on further research needed to make electricity from the air feasible for the industrial and commercial world.

Experts Investigate

"One of the most anticipated affairs of the school year at Frances Willard was the banquet of the Social Law club, held Monday night, January 12 at the Santa Ana cafe. Members of both the junior and senior clubs joined in making the meeting most enjoyable. This is an annual affair given in honor of the graduating members. Complete arrangements were in charge of Janor Anderson who proved very capable.

At intervals during the dinner courses, members were called upon by the toastmaster, William Curnutt, to respond to various toasts.

Those presenting clever responses were M. C. Hall, Elizabeth Sturtevant, Margaret Sawyer and Major Anderson. Addison Bowers, representing the alumni of the club was an honored guest, and responded with an excellent talk.

The equipment is simple. It consists of an outside aerial set in the yard of the tiny farmhouse. Two wires lead from this aerial to what Britten calls a generator, a small wooden box which contains four metal tubes. Here the magic heat is performed and electricity taken from the air is transferred to everyday storage batteries where it is conserved and becomes available for household and farm uses.

"The banquet brought to a close the occasion being the baccalaureate service on Sunday, January 25 at the United Presbyterian church. The Rev. Mr. W. H. McPeak will deliver the sermon.

The class play, under the direction of Miss Ruth Langley, is now demanding considerable attention by those in the cast.

"Port and Beans" is the title of the little play. It was originated by Mrs. Edith Thatcher, the vice-principal of Lathrop, and promised to be highly entertaining. The cast includes the following: La Anderson, George Bissett, John "School Advisor," Walter Hendrie, Bittle, Charles Blanchard, Lloyd Gibbs, Asa Hoffman, Idelle Johnoring man has found the golden key to a thing which science has aimed toward for many years and the discovery has not destroyed his modesty and quiet poise.

Must Be Developed

"In its present state, statical electricity is practical for farm and domestic uses only, but large scale industrial and commercial projects are in the offing though they have not been touched as yet. The backers of the invention are not extravagant in promises. They do not predict the overthrow of all present power methods, and they have no idea of putting present power companies out of business.

They know fully that much remains to be done experimentally to adapt Britten's invention to large scale operations, but they firmly believe it can be done."

HOW SOON WE FORGET

In 1921 there was a depression which, while not so serious as the present one, very much disturbed the government officials. Men were walking the streets of all our cities looking for work as they are doing today. President Harding, like President Hoover at the beginning of the present depression, called a group of industrialists, bankers, and labor leaders to Washington for conference. Out of that conference committees were appointed which later reported. But by the time the reports were made, much of the depression had passed, and the whole business went for nothing.

It is interesting today to read the report of a committee headed by Owen D. Young, of the General Electric Company, which was appointed at that time by Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, to investigate the problem of unemployment and business cycles. The report is interesting and suggestive reading today in the light of the fact that the same recommendations were made then that are being made now. The committee recommended that business organizations, banking organizations, trade associations, labor organizations, and chambers of commerce, as well as individual business men and bankers, cooperate with the Department of Commerce and the Department of Labor, to gather the facts which might result in practical programs of action. Needless to say, such cooperation was not given. It has needed another depression to bring the whole question to the fore again, and we find business men, public officials, and economists threshing the same old straw which was threshed in 1921.

The remedies suggested by the committee of that time are identical with those which are being suggested now, but which fell by the wayside because the depression had run its course. With much elaboration, the committee suggested the following remedies for the prevention of inflation and unemployment: Control of credits by banks in general. Control of inflation by the Federal Reserve System. Control of public and private construction at or near the peak of the business cycle. Construction of public works in the depression. Unemployment reserve funds. Federal and State Employment bureaus.

"No problem before the business world today," concludes the committee, "offers a more inspiring challenge to sound industrial leadership." Yet nothing came of any of these recommendations. We wonder what Secretary Hoover did with this report during the eight years of his incumbency as Secretary of Commerce. We know that President Coolidge encouraged the inflation movement till stock brokers' loans reached the staggering total of over $8,000,000,000 which has now dropped below $2,000,000,000. No legislation was passed for a Federal Employment Bureau. The matter of an unemployment reserve was not heard of again until the present depression was well on. Nothing came of it all. Will anything come of the discussed plans of today? Shall we go through the same cycle again, and be startled again when the crash of another crisis comes? We shall see. We hope so. But in the light of past experience we may be pardoned if we are not over-optimistic.

Judging from news from Poland lately, things there are getting Warsaw and Warsaw.

CROESUS IN AN INTERNATIONAL ALMSHOUSE

Ex-Secretary Baker, at the recent meeting in New York, to commemorate the birthday of Woodrow Wilson asked the question whether it is good for one prosperous nation like the United States to live in an international alms-house. It was a searching question; and it would be well if the people of this country could understand the significance of such a possible situation. Mr. Baker feels deeply about our provincial and isolationist policy. Together with every thoughtful and informed observer, he believes that such a situation cannot but disintegrate our moral fibre until we too shall come to the end shattered and destitute.

A casual observance of the state of the nations is little short of alarming. Great Britain, with its great army of unemployed, which has become well-nigh a chronic situation; Germany bound to the wheel for nearly two generations with reparation payments beyond her capacity to pay; France and Italy burdened with armaments which they can ill afford; Russia in the throes of reconstruction such as will try the souls of its people for many years to come; Turkey and the Baltic States passing from poverty to utter destitution; Japan with a crowded population which presses hard upon subsistence; China and India in the hurtling throes of civic strife and revolution. How can we expect to find continued security and prosperity in such a world?

To be sure, we are self-sufficient. We have foodstuffs, raw material of every kind, mechanical and engineering ingenuity, and everything else to make us independent. But in a world which has become a neighborhood, and in which even our own living standards are dependent upon international trade, there are sorry times for us ahead if we continue going it alone. The cords that bind us to the rest of the world cannot be sundered without a readjustment which not even the most ardent 100 per cent American might welcome.

We no longer live in the age of the trireme, the oxcart, and the camel. Our airplanes, our Bremens, our transcontinental limiteds, our radios have annihilated distances. We rise together and fall together.

Far-sighted statesmen see this, and they cry out in warning. Will their cries fall upon deaf ears, or upon minds and hearts surfeited with luxury and drunk with the lust of power? We do not believe that when the facts are borne in upon the minds of the sober and industrious American that words like those of Secretary Baker will fall upon deaf ears.

The Outlook reproduces a cut reprinted from the St. Louis Star which pictures only the feet of the men who stand in the breadline. Pants frayed at the bottom and wrinkled; shoes tattered, misshapen, and soleless; and stockings of children torn and shapeless. Only feet; but they portray the destitution, the misery, and the despair of those whose faces are hidden.

One does not like to dwell upon such scenes. They make us uncomfortable. We expect to see pictures of that sort of people in Central Africa, of destitute Chinese starving on the Mongolian desert, and pariahs in the crowded villages of India. But we do not like to see them amid the sky-piercing office and warehouse buildings of New York, or the smokeless chimneys of our steel cities, or the silent machinery of Detroit. It isn't normal. It isn't natural.

Good for us, though, to see those feet, just to feel a bit uncomfortable in our comfortable homes and at our well-set tables. Thankfulness for our own lot is sacrifice at such a sight. A passion for humanity; a resolve that this shall not continue in this land of plenty. These should move us. It will not do to say, as we so often hear, "They will not work." Let such be disillusioned and reach for Clinch Calkin's book by that title. In that book they will learn what those tattered shoes, those wrinkled and frayed trousers, and those half bare legs in the line mean. And better still, call up the Santa Ana employment agency. They will find there men who will work.

Transocean Flight—Wholesale

Christian Science Monitor

When a small boy, out with a crowd of youngsters, finds a difficult ski jump and makes it, the feat is outstanding. A little experimenting, however, and soon the whole group zips across the opening and the stunt becomes commonplace.

With the arrival of her flock of seaplanes at Natal, Brazil, after an 1875-mile hop from Bohemia, Africa, Italy has proved that a long jump across the south Atlantic Ocean need not be considered an unusual performance. Fourteen planes lined up for the take-off. Two crashed at the outset. Two more failed to make the South American coast, and were picked up by Italian naval vessels. But ten of them did make it, including the ship of the leader, Gen. Italo Balbo, the Italian Air Minister.

Right after the World war the United States started three seaplanes across the Atlantic, along lanes carefully patrolled by naval vessels. One of these, the NO-4, made it, accomplishing the first transatlantic crossing by air. No further group flights have been attempted until this one. One-third of the ships started by the United States got across. A little better than two-thirds were successful in this latest crossing. These two figures are fair indications of the progress made in cross-ocean flying since the war.

While not detracting in the least from the commendable Italian performance, the route followed by its planes is probably the easiest one in crossing the Atlantic. The next is the Azores route, while the most difficult is the great circle route.

Perhaps this latter route will stand as an interesting challenge to the adventurous Italian fliers. Having proved their ability to fly en masse across the south Atlantic, they can add further laurels to their list of achievements by a duplicate hop across the north Atlantic. Such a trip would advance public confidence in the possibility of transoceanic flying. Needless to say, it would also make an outstanding contribution to the good will which exists between the United States and Italy.

Patron Saint of Sport

Burbank Daily Review

Benjamin Franklin, anniversary of whose birth occurs on January 17, is the patron saint of the American printing industry. He is famed as a legislator, literary man, inventor, diplomat and proponent of American independence. He excelled in all these endeavors, but his versatility did not stop with them.

This universal genius adds that of athlete to his long string of claims to fame. It is not a mere whimsy to claim Franklin as a patron saint of sport. Swimming was his favorite sport, and while history does not record that he ever swam the English channel or the Delaware river, there is sufficient evidence that he was an expert.

Twenty-year-old Benjamin disported in the Thames in a fashion that should have been featured in the London gazettes of his time. In his immortal "Autobiography" he wrote:

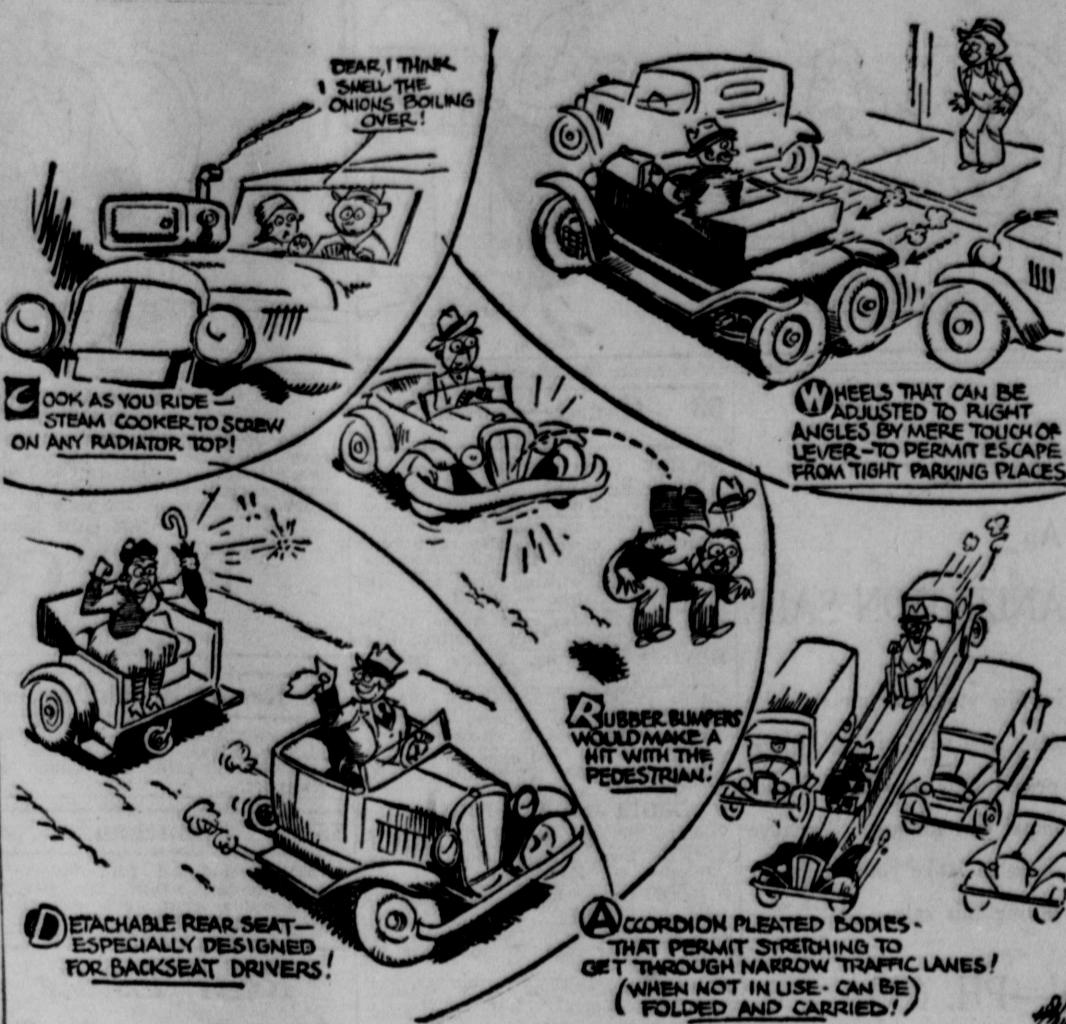

"I stripped and leaped into the river, and swam from near Chelsea to Blackfriars, performing on the way many feats of activity both upon and under the water that surprised and pleased those to whom they were novelties."

During that same visit to England, Franklin seriously considered remaining in Europe to open a swimming school or to travel from town to town giving exhibitions and lessons. That he didn't was only because of the depreciation of the Quaker merchant Denham.

The evidence seems clear enough that while Franklin's swimming was in a class with the professionals of his day, his amateur standing is unclouded.

Now that Franklin's prowess as a swimmer is becoming generally known one may expect soon to see "Ben Franklin Swimming Clubs" take their place beside the multitude of book stores, printing establishments, organizations of printers, scientific and literary societies, and other institutions and associations bearing the name of the illustrious colonial.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

LINES BY A MALCONTENT

When I dwell amid the terror of the town,
With the thunder of the traffic in my ears—
When I watch a squad of gunmen shooting down
Roving yeggmen or marauding racketeers,
I am filled with wistful visions of the farm,
Where the odor of the clover scents the air;
I reflect upon its soft bucolic charm,
And I wish with all my heart that I were there.

When I live among the wild and wooded hills,
Where one cannot even see a picture show,
And the rippling, wimpling music of the rills
Grows monotonous inside a day or so,
I dream about the pleasures of the plains,
Where existence has a soul-awakening zest,
And I con the advertisements of the trains
Which convey one the boundless Golden West.

When I watch the endless sweeps of sandy shore,
When I listen to the gull's and sea mew's call,
And the mighty dinason of the roar
As the curling crested combers rise and fall,
I am haunted by the thought of polar bears,
And I wish that I could pack my bag and roam
Where these interesting creatures have their lairs
On the drifting lonely ice-floes north of Nome.

I have traveled up and down and to and fro,
I have roved the rolling planet far and wide,
But it never seems to matter where I go,
When I get there, I am still dissatisfied.
If in Eden had my earthly days been spent
I should probably have voiced the same complaint,
For while other folk are happy and content,
I wish that I were somewhere that I ain't.

Cosmetics, Candy and Chewing Gum

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"How," asks the Educator, "can we make the average wage-earner understand the importance of taking better care of his teeth?"

"The average wage earner does not need more understanding," answers the Economist. "He needs more money."

"But," objects the Banker, "if you give him more money, he will spend it on cosmetics, candy, and chewing gum."

We have just looked into that question, and this is what we find:

In the industrial regions of Chicago, the amount of dental work has been cut down about 50 per cent by the present business depression. That is true of the country as a whole according to an estimate made this month by Dr. Herbert E. Phillips, of the American Dental Association.

Sales by a national dental supply house indicate that all dental work has fallen off at least 25 per cent.

A survey of Shelby County, Indiana, shows that about half the dental patients who need additional work fail to have it done because they cannot afford it.

The director of the dental department of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers says that a very large proportion of the members are losing their teeth because they have not money enough to save them. As a result of the present depression, the staff of the dental clinic has been reduced 50 per cent.

All this bears out both the findings of Dr. Michael M. Davis, as reported by him last spring, and the findings of Dr. Jessica Pixotto in California.

As a matter of fact, all studies show that the care of the health goes up and down with the family income. It is lack of money, rather than lack of wisdom, which keeps the wage-earner away from the dentist.

When wages go up, as they surely will, more money will be spent for cosmetics, candy, and chewing gum. But far larger in proportion will be the increase of money which is spent for the care of the teeth.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE CALL OF THE CLOISTER

Never did the direction of American affairs call as insistently as it now calls for clear and calm thinking. And never did clear and calm thinking operate under greater handicaps.

In a significant little book on "The Public and Its Government" Felix Frankfurter says:

"Pitiful publicity has its beneficial aspects. But when everything is done under glare and noise, the deliberative process is impaired and government becomes too susceptible to quick feeling. It is, I believe, of deep significance that the Constitution of the United States was written behind closed doors, and it is well to remember that earth was thrown on the streets of Philadelphia to protect the convention from the noise of traffic."

It has become a dogma of democracy that every stage of the development of public policies must be open to the public if the public is to be assured of faithful service from its servants.

The America of 1931 is not an open arrival at open covenants which has tended to make us the victims of a leadership of poseurs.

Men do not think in the spotlight. They pose. Even the best of them!

OUR CHILDREN

TONE DEAF

"Minnie cannot sing. She is tone deaf. Let her sit in the back and listen."

Now that is too bad for Minnie, especially if she is old enough to sense her deficiency. Maybe she isn't tone deaf. Did you try that out to see? Maybe she can recognize the difference in tones but cannot sing them. Give her a chance.

It is very difficult to get a class to sing well when there are the usual handful of monotones and tone deaf children in the group. But after all we are not teaching music in the classes for the sake of the harmony the group can produce. Rather we are teaching music for the sake of the monotone.

I don't think so. Shorty sed. If I just look mad at a guy he gets the chills and fevers, he sed.

O is that so, well all I haff to do is just think about a guy and he has to be took to the hospitile to have stiches put in him, I sed. And what more I lile matches by just breathing on them, I sed.

What of it, Im so tuff I was vaccinated 5 times and it never took once, I sed, and he sed. Well I was ony vaccinated once and it gave the doctor typhoid fever and small pox.

Thats nutting, when I eat a hard boil egg I dont even bother to take the shell off, tharts how tuff I am, I sed.

Thats the way I eat coconuts, Shorty sed.

O yes youre about as hard as a lump of fresh putty, I sed, and he sed. And he youre about as hard as a squashed orange with the skin off. And if you want to fit just say so, he sed.

It wouldnt be a fite, it would be a assassination and you'd be the one they had to carry away, I sed.
